DONALD TRUMP WANTS QUICK DE-ESCALATION: WHITE HOUSE

US President Donald Trump wants to see the conflict between India and Pakistan de-escalate as quickly as possible, the White House Press Secretary Karoline Leavitt said

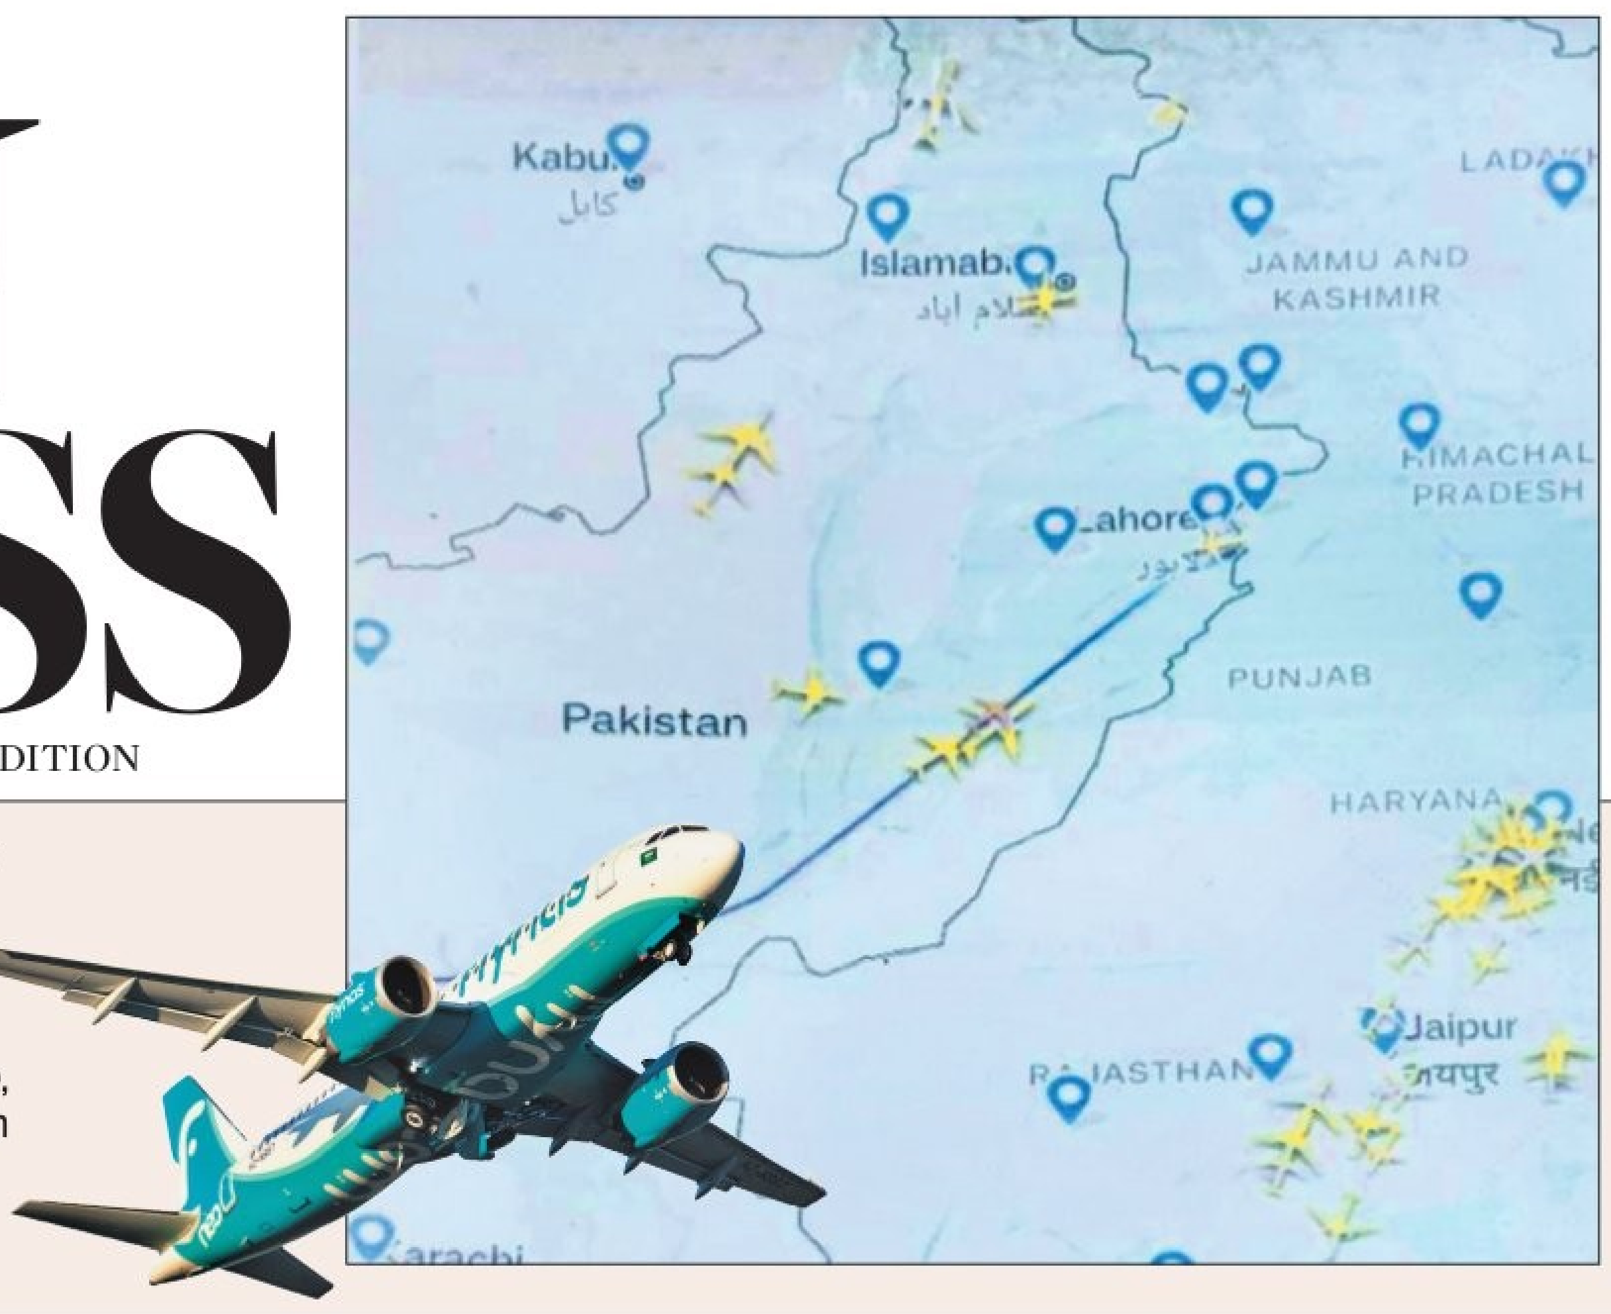
HEARTLESS PAKISTAN MILITARY PUT CIVILIAN FLIERS IN HARM'S WAY

On May 7, the day India took out Pak's terror infra, the neighbour did not close its civil airspace while trying to attack Indian installations with drones and missiles. Else, it knew the strikes would draw a swift Indian response. In effect, it used its civil airliners as a shield. The defence ministry shared screenshots of flight movement on the website flightradar24 to prove its point (see map)



DRONE OF WAR DEAFENS BORDER AGAIN ON DAY 2

Three injured in Punjab as debris falls on house; bid to attack Srinagar, Jammu airports foiled; air defence systems take out most of the projectiles fired from across the border

DAY 3

DASHING hopes of an immediate de-escalation in tensions, Pakistan on Friday launched another wave of drone attacks targeting key Indian locations in Jammu and Kashmir, Punjab, and Rajasthan.

The drones specifically targeted army bases in Srinagar and Awantipora and the Jammu airport, which also houses the Indian Air Force station.

Multiple explosions were heard near Srinagar airport as the air defence systems engaged the drones.

"Drones have been sighted at 26 locations ranging from the Baramulla in the North to Bhuj in the South, along both the International Border and the Line of Control with Pakistan. These include suspected armed drones posing potential threats to civilian and military targets," the Army said in a statement. The locations include Baramulla, Srinagar, Avantipora, Nagrota, Jammu, Ferozpur, Pathankot, Fazilka, Lalgarh Jatta, Jaisalmer, Barmer, Bhuj, Kuarbet and Lakhi Nala, it added.

Indian defence systems intercepted and neutralised all drones. However, in Punjab, a drone exploded as it was being neutralised and fell on a house, causing burn injuries to three persons. The condition of one person is said to be serious.

"There was heavy drone attack at Khai Pheme Ki village near Ferozepur. One of the drones that was neutralised fell down like a ball of fire on to a house, injuring three. One lady who was cooking suffered extensive burn injuries. A CNG car parked outside the house caused a blast and the house caught fire," an official told this newspaper.

Sources said the village is situated close to the Army cantonment, which may have been the original target.

In Jammu and Kashmir, red streaks were seen and several loud explosions heard in Jammu city and its adjoining areas as the air defence systems neutralised the kamikaze drones launched from across the border.

Sirens were sounded and there was a complete blackout in Jammu in the evening. The authorities also snapped electricity to major parts of the region to enforce the blackout.

There were no immediate reports of any casualty or damage in the drone attack in Jammu and Kashmir.

In Rajasthan, blackouts were enforced in Jaisalmer, Barmer and Sri Ganganagar districts, and residents were urged to stay indoors.

Don't panic, stay indoors, says Army

Citizens, especially those in border areas, must stay indoors, limit unnecessary movement, and follow safety instructions issued by local authorities, the army said in an advisory. While there is no need for panic, heightened vigilance and precaution are essential, it added.

India abstains from IMF vote on loan to Pakistan

India abstained from the IMF vote on Pakistan's loan programmes on Friday, stating its concerns over its funds being misused for state sponsored cross-border terrorism. "Rewarding continued sponsorship of cross-border terrorism sends a dangerous message to the global community, exposes funding agencies and donors to reputational risks, and makes a mockery of global values," India said. The IMF took note of the abstention

BCCI suspends IPL games for a week

WITH military operations escalating in the India and Pakistan border, the ongoing edition of the Indian Premier League (IPL) has been suspended for one week. The BCCI made the decision public after a meeting with all stakeholders including the franchises on Friday morning.

PM meets defence brass amid fresh Pak escalation

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR AND MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

AMID fresh escalations from Pakistan, Prime Minister Narendra Modi chaired a crucial high-level meeting with the chiefs of all three armed services—Army Chief General Upendra Dwivedi, Air Chief Marshal A P Singh, and Navy Chief Admiral Dinesh K Tripathi.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, National Security Adviser Ajit Doval, Chief of Defence Staff General Anil Chauhan, and Defence Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh were also there at the meeting held at the PM's residence on Friday evening.

The meeting came in the backdrop of Pakistan's attempts to launch drone and missile strikes in Jammu, Punjab and other parts of the country on Thursday night.

During the meeting that lasted more than an hour, Modi commended the success of the armed forces in repelling Pakistan's provocations, it is learnt. "Full details were shared with the PM who in turn asked the service chiefs to do the needful to teach a lesson to the enemies," a source said. Earlier in the day, Rajnath Singh had held a detailed meeting with the three service chiefs to take stock of the evolving situation and a comprehensive national security assessment.

According to sources, NSA Ajit Doval stayed back after the meeting with the service chiefs was over, to have a one-on-one with Modi. Later, External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar briefed the PM about the diplomatic measures taken to deal with the India-Pakistan tension.

400 UAVs incursions in 1 really long night

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

OPERATIONAL details shared by the government on Friday showed the massive scale of Pakistan's incursion the previous night, as it deployed 300-400 drones across 36 locations from Leh in the North to the Sir Creek region in Gujarat.

While the UAVs (unmanned aerial vehicles) attempted to target the military infrastructure, Indian forces neutralised many of them using kinetic (blowing them away) and non-kinetic (jamming) means, a defence ministry spokesperson said. An armed drone strike on Bhatinda in Punjab was also thwarted. India retaliated by launching drone strikes on four Pakistani air defence sites, destroying a radar. Pakistan also resorted to heavy artillery fire across the LoC , resulting in Indian Army casualties. India gave a fitting response, the government shared.

In an official briefing, Wing Commander Vyomika Singh said Pakistan's shelling using heavy-calibre artillery guns and armed drones caused some losses and injuries to Indian Army personnel.

Besides, Pakistan showed scant respect for civilians as it kept its civil airspace open during its counter-assault on May 7, the day India took out the terror infrastructure in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, said the spokesperson. Pakistan apparently used the civilian fliers as a shield to ward off India's fierce response.

The officer said, "Pakistan is using civil airliners as a shield, knowing fully well that its attack on India would elicit a swift air defence response. This is not safe for the unsuspecting civil airliners, including the international flights which were flying near the International Border between India and Pakistan." Sharing a screenshot of flight movement on the website flightradar24, the officer underscored that the IAF demonstrated considerable restraint, ensuring safety of the flights.

Possibly meant to test defence systems

The possible purpose of such large-scale aerial intrusions was to test air defence systems and collect intelligence. Forensic investigation of the wreckage of the drones is being done. Initial reports suggest that they are Turkish Asisguard Songar drones

TURKISH FINGERPRINT SEEN IN DOWNED DRONES

During the intervening night of May 8 and 9, Pakistan carried out strikes using 300-400 drones against India at 36 locations along the western borders from Leh in the north to Sir Creek in Gujarat

1. Colonel Sofiya Qureshi and Wing Commander Vyomika Singh said preliminary examination of downed drones showed they were Turkey's Asisguard Songars
2. The Songar has five variants, including a non-combat one. Can be used "effectively in any kind of day/night military and security operations". It has a range of about 10 km, with a load carrying capacity of 45 kg, an option for asymmetric threats
3. Developed by Asisguard, an Ankara-based firm, Songar is a low-altitude, quadrotor, UAV that was developed for the Turkish armed forces. Has been in use since 2020 for battlefield operations as well as internal security duties
4. SONGAR has an autonomous take-off and landing capability. It is integrated with a machine gun and grenade launcher. With the capability of real-time image transmission, it can detect target area, neutralise threat and damage detection

It's goodbye BBMP, welcome GBA; polls not anytime soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

STARTING May 15, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) will be a thing of the past. It will now be Greater Bengaluru Authority, as the cabinet on Friday gave the nod to issue a notification on May 15.

The next course, including splitting of the existing area to three or more municipal corporations and delimitation and reservation of wards, will be decided in the coming days. This also means that the elections to the city corporation will not be held anytime soon.

Government sources said the recent appointment of senior IAS officer Maheshwar Rao as interim BBMP chief commissioner was part of the plan to split the corporation. The government will now form a committee, which will study and decide on the delimitation of municipal corporations and wards. After that, it will work on reservation of each ward.

The Greater Bengaluru Governance Act 2025 specifies that the CM will head GBA, while the Bengaluru development minister will be the vice-chairperson. Managing directors or commissioners of BMTC, BWSSB, Bescom and other agencies associated with Bengaluru will be its members. The Act provides for fixing the term of the mayor and deputy Mayor to 2.5 years.

Sanchari Cauvery for dry season, will keep tanker mafia in check: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

WITH water tanker supply turning into a mafia in Bengaluru, the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) has launched the Sanchari Cauvery project to supply water to the public at a low price. It is one of its kind in the country, said Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, after launching the programme on Friday.

BWSSB has fixed Rs 660 for 4,000 litres of water and Rs 740 for 6,000 litres. "Those involved in the water tanker business have dug about 3,000 borewells and charge up to Rs 3,000 per tanker. Today, under the Sanchari Cauvery scheme, water rates are fixed. This is not tubewell water, but clean drinking water provided by BWSSB," Shivakumar said.

Last year, when there was a water shortage, the situation was handled in the best possible way. Now, it has been decided to fill the lakes and take steps to improve groundwater level, he added.

Shivakumar also briefed the media about his recent visit to Delhi and meeting with Union Minister Nitin Gadkari. "We discussed various development works related to Bengaluru. Today, the 'Sarvarigu Sarala Cauvery', which aims to provide easy Cauvery water connections to all, and 'Sanchari Cauvery' projects have been launched. Yesterday, the foundation stone was laid for a project to treat Vrishabhavati water at a cost of Rs 1,900 crore in Nelamangala, and fill lakes in Bengaluru Rural district. Every drop of water is important. Many may criticize this. But this is not the first such project. In Delhi too, Yamuna river water is supplied for growing plants, washing vehicles and for industries," he said.

The minister also spoke about his interest in Cauvery Arathi on the lines of Ganga Arathi and said, "This programme has been designed so that everyone understands the importance of Cauvery and water. A tender has been called, and appropriate responsibilities will be given to the departments," he said.

BWSSB in dock as taps spit dirty water on Basappa Road

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

A day after residents of Nanjappa Road in Shanthinagar assembly constituency, raised alarm over dirty water supply, the issue has raised its stink on Basappa Road.

On Friday morning the residents complained about frothy and smelly water pouring out of Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) taps. The residents say they have been supplied filthy water by BWSSB for the last 10 years.

Shanthinagar Resident Welfare Association, which has around 4,000-plus members, has been struggling with dirty water flowing into their taps, especially during pre-monsoon and heavy rains.

"This time, from Sunday onwards we encountered the drinking water line pollution problem due to sewage getting mixed. The residents living in different lanes get water supply every alternate day and till today the issue has not been solved. The BWSSB jetting machines are deployed to clean the chamber, still, the officials are not able to fix the problem," said a resident.

Renuka Prasad, Founder and President of the Association, pointed out that residents have been complaining about falling sick due to water contamination and said if the issue is not solved at the earliest, there could be a breakout of waterborne disease and officials will have to be held responsible. The residents collectively say that on Sunday when they noticed the water pollution, they took the matter to the BWSSB office at Johnson Market and the officials there had promised to fix it in the day.

The issue, however, persists.

They say even on Saturday and Sunday quota, the BWSSB will supply only frothy and smelly water. "Saturday morning is our quota and we are sure that the BWSSB will supply polluted water to the residents. At one end, the DK Shivakumar preaches about water conservation but due to BWSSB supplying dirty water, residents have to empty their sumps and are forced to waste lakhs of litres of water," said a frustrated resident.

CLEAR OBSTRUCTION ON FOOTPATH

BBMP chief keen to make B'luru streets pedestrian-friendly

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Maheshwar Rao has instructed officials to maintain uniform road width in the city to ensure safety and walking convenience for pedestrians.

He carried out an inspection on Friday with a focus on the development and proper maintenance of footpaths. Starting the inspection from the eastern gate of Lalbagh, Rao identified an encroachment of footpath near HOPCOMS area and directed them to clear it and repair the footpath.

He also asked them to maintain cleanliness near the bus stand located at the same place and also asked the BESCOM officials to remove three electric poles that have come up on the footpath near Lal Bagh.

"The transformer installed on the footpath is making it difficult for citizens to walk, talk to the officials concerned and fix it," he directed the BBMP officials. He asked the engineers to maintain cleanliness near the gratings where water goes to the side drains.

Rao was not happy with poor maintenance of public toilet near Siddapura near Lal Bagh and said, "There are toilets in the Siddapura Circle slum area, but they are not being maintained properly. Officials have been directed to maintain them properly," he said.

Rao also came across damaged slabs and kerbs and said, the damaged slabs and kerbs on the footpaths should be repaired immediately.

Due to installation of electric transformer to Shivanalli Hotel, footpaths in the surrounding have been damaged. Taking note of this, Rao directed to issue notice to building owner and instructed the officials to recover the cost of the repair work and impose a fine.

He instructed the Horticulture Department staff to take necessary steps to maintain cleanliness around Lalbagh, and a cleanliness campaign should be organized soon and cleaned. He then instructed to temporarily deploy home guards and take action to ensure that cleanliness is not compromised anywhere.

Dhatu platform to make Math learning easy

Bengaluru: The Prayoga Institute of Education Research has launched 'Dhatu', a technology enabled platform for students to make math less intimidating and more accessible. Developed in collaboration with Stanford's Prof Jeffrey Ullman, Dhatu provides customisable MCQ-based self-assessments sourced from the NCERT portions of Class 9-12. "Unlike conventional MCQs (multiple choice questions), Dhatu not only identifies the wrong answers but also analyses why a student chose a particular option, helping them understand where they went wrong," said Vallish Herur, managing trustee of Prayoga Institute. "Our core idea is to focus on conceptual understanding and problem solving which are often ignored in the learning process." It uses the Root Question Method to guide students through a logical progression of thought. Each question builds on a central "root" idea, providing choice explanation and feedback, helping learners connect the dots and understand the 'why' behind the concepts. Dhatu involves three levels which involves the introduction of concepts, the intervention and interconnectivity of concepts, and finally how these concepts can be applied in the real world scenario. Offered free of cost, the programme will pilot in the academic year 2025-26 and will be fully rolled out by 2027, with a focus on reaching socially and economically disadvantaged schools and supporting quality math education across diverse communities. The platform was unveiled by Abhay Karandikar, secretary, Department of Science & Technology, Government of India.

Railways gives green signal for location survey for new terminal at Devanahalli

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO ease Bengaluru's overcrowded railway network, the Ministry of Railways has given the green light for a Final Location Survey (FLS) for the proposed Mega Coaching Terminal near Devanahalli. The approval is part of a broader initiative to address the city's growing passenger demands. The survey, which is set to be conducted along the Yelahanka-Devanahalli- Chikkaballapur corridor, is estimated to cost Rs 1.35 crore. Currently, Bengaluru, the fifth most populous metro city, operates with only three terminals and 12 pit lines, handling 140 originating, 139 terminating and 142 pass-through trains daily. The city also manages 110 primary maintenance trains. With an expected 103.72 million originating passengers and a total footfall of 212.06 million in 2024-25, the existing terminals - KSR Bengaluru, Yeshwanthpur and SMVT Bengaluru - are already at full capacity.

The city's rail system is expected to face even greater strain, with a future projection of 210 originating trains per day.

The lack of sufficient stabling lines and a dedicated goods corridor has resulted in the movement of empty trains. While expanding existing terminals is increasingly difficult due to the city's dense urban growth, the proposed terminal at Devanahalli or at any suitable location along the Yelahanka - Devanahalli - Chikkaballapur corridor, is expected to serve as a fourth major terminal. It will be equipped with 12 pit lines, five washing lines, 24 stabling lines, six heavy repair bay lines, two pit wheel lathe lines and six sick lines, along with support infrastructure like loco bays, a 50-tonne boot laundry, administrative buildings and stores.

Irregularities found at APMC, RPC, KSWC godowns

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UPA Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa unearthed large-scale irregularities in procurement of farmers' produce at the Agricultural Produce Market Committee's (APMC) yard, the ragi procurement centre (RPC) and a godown of Karnataka State Warehousing Corporation (KSWC) at Doddaballapur on April 7.

The Upa Lokayukta registered complaints against APMC secretary Abida Anjum, Narayana HN, junior assistant, RPC, and others. The RPC and the godown are also on the APMC yard.

According to a report, agents of merchants collected 10% commission from farmers for their produce and no receipts were issued.

ಕರ್ನಾಟಕ ಲೋಕಾಯುಕ್ತ
KARNATAKA LOKAYUK

Thousands of farmers and merchants visited the APMC yard daily and Rs 10 collected from them for using toilets there. The toilets did not have regular supply and were not maintained properly. Moreover, the yard had no restrooms for farmers. The situation is no different at RPC and the godown.

The Upa Lokayukta found uncalibrated weighing machines at the yard. Farmers suffered losses because of this. Employees at the yard declared cash in their possession while entering their offices, but not at the time of leaving. No movement register was maintained. The officials did not provide details to the Upa Lokayukta regarding registered agents, traders and licenses issued to them. Though space has been provided by the APMC for ragi procurement, the weighbridge there was not being used, the report said.

When asked, Narayana informed the Upa Lokayukta that the weighbridge installed by the APMC at a cost of Rs 20 lakh on the main road is not accessible to farmers because vehicles could not reach the spot due to a drain. When farmers stated that they were deprived of various benefits, the Upa Lokayukta directed the APMC officials to address all issues.

At the ragi godown of KSWC, each bag was found labelled 50 kg. However, when weighed, it was found that some bags contained only 43 kg, 48kg and 49 kg. But farmers should go there with ragi bags, each containing 52 kg instead of 50 kg.

When Narayana's mobile phone was checked, it was found that more transactions were made through digital payment. The Upa Lokayukta sought statements of bank accounts of Narayana and Tanveer Sait, district manager.

PETER VIDAL

10th May: Today's Moon is sliding into a lively zone, kicking the month's planetary energies into a whole new phase. It's a fantastic time for a fresh start, and I would recommend an emphasis on old-fashioned good manners and co-operation. It's time for everyone to be perfectly nice to everyone else!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There's no point in making choices unless you do something about them. Decisions concerning home or family affairs must be translated instantly into action. Otherwise you will probably forget, or just lose interest. Unexpected news may prompt a change of course.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
The heat has definitely been on lately, and only the most obstinate and stubborn Taureans have turned down certain dramatic blandishments. The best planetary influences relate to money, but your judgment will have to be nothing less than perfect! Now, there's a tall order!

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
You are going to enjoy yourself more and more with every day that passes. But first there are certain hurdles to overcome, and these are probably more to do with self-knowledge than with actual events. In other words, if you know what you need, then you'll get what you want.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
There's no reason to push yourself too hard for no purpose. Time is on your side, mainly because you're only a part of the way through an enlightened ten-year cycle. Therefore, when other people have done their worst and given their best, you will still have more to offer.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
As the weeks go by, you will come to realise that a good friend was perhaps not all they seemed. Hidden depths should be the order of the day, so you may sit back and let your imagination be your guide. If you do a favour for someone now, I am sure it will be repaid ten-fold.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There are extraordinarily powerful pressures to change, even when you don't want to. While aggravation at home may be a very powerful factor, those of you who have been experiencing professional pressures could suddenly realise that you can't go on as before.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The way forward is not always as clear as you'd like. Although it may sound slightly impractical, your best course of action may be to go for whichever option seems to be the most adventurous. Keep a weather-eye on delicate legal issues though, as you don't want disagreements at this stage.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Of all the signs of the zodiac, yours is about to come closer to discovering the truth than any other. My best advice now is to stay cool and not be easily offended or dismayed. A last-minute financial rush may be good for you. Just for once, an instant decision might be the best.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You've done well. Nobody can deny that. Having stuck to your guns and made others realise just how tough you can be, you must now sit back and listen to them. Now is the worst time to imagine you can wind anybody up, or otherwise belittle their interests.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
What takes place now could be the climax of months of effort. Work seems to be the key to a successful day, but that doesn't necessarily mean paid employment. Just make sure that, by the end of the day, there are as few outstanding unfinished chores as possible.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The past few months seem to have coincided with better personal relationships. Other people have been giving you fewer problems, and you seem to have become more confident. Today you may find time to relax and enjoy the fruits of your many emotional labours.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are so many demands on your energy, that it scarcely seems possible that you'll have any space to rest or put your feet up, or otherwise wallow in your time off. For once, Pisces, you seem to have a purpose of your own! People who think you're their unpaid servant will have to back away!

Health officials on deputation told to return

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO address staff shortage in the state public health system, the state government has ordered the return of all Health and Family Welfare Department officers and employees who have been working on deputation in other departments — including the Medical Education Department — for more than five years.

Many of the staff members had been sent on temporary assignments, especially to the Medical Education department, but the officials continued to remain there even after completing their deputation period.

The government, in the order dated May 7, noted that this prolonged deputation has affected staffing in key health facilities like district hospitals, taluk hospitals, community health centres, and primary health centres.

As a result, it has now decided to cancel all such extended assignments and directed that these staff members immediately return to their parent department - health department.

The order covers officials and employees in all categories and applies to anyone who has crossed the five year deputation limit. The state health department has been asked to make use of the returning staff to fill up critical vacancies and improve services at the field level.

The government has asked the Health Commissioner to coordinate with the departments where the staff are currently posted and ensure their immediate return.

A report confirming their redeployment must also be submitted to the government at the earliest.

The government has also made it clear that if any employee fails to report back after this order, strict disciplinary action will be taken against them under civil service rules and regulations. The aim, the government said, is to strengthen the public healthcare system by bringing back trained professionals to areas where they are most needed.

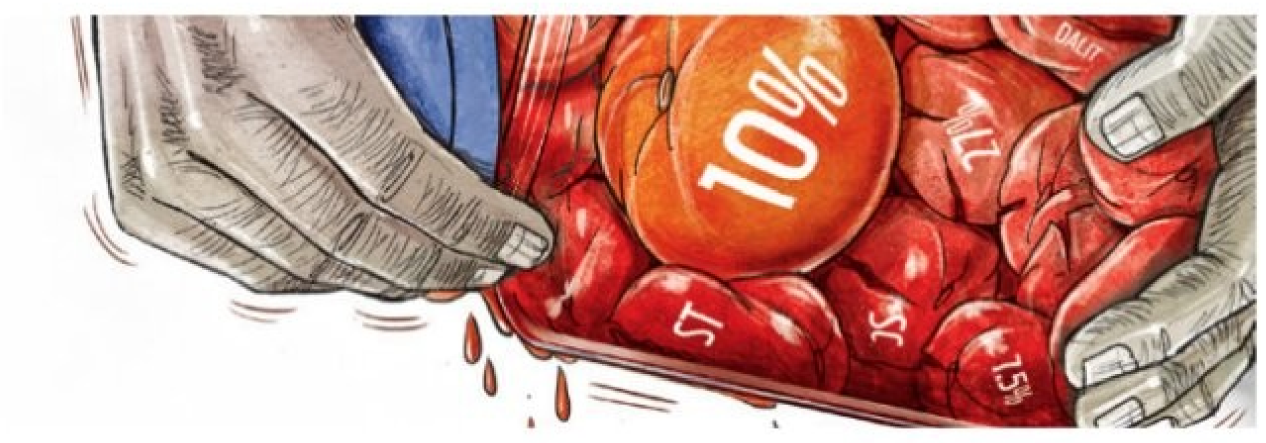
CABINET DEFERS CASTE CENSUS DISCUSSION, YET AGAIN

Ministers yet to give opinion on survey; 4 per cent promotion quota for physically challenged officers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru



THE State cabinet once again deferred discussion of the Socio-Economic and Educational Survey (SES-2015) or caste census, on Friday. Law Minister HK Patil said it will be discussed at the next cabinet meeting.

Reports of the survey were given to ministers at the cabinet meeting held on April 17. They had decided to discuss it on May 2, and deferred it to May 9. Now, the cabinet has again postponed discussing the caste census.

Patil told reporters that the Backward Class Commission had submitted its report to the cabinet. A discussion was initiated, and some ministers gave suggestions to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. While 11 ministers gave their opinion in writing, the remaining are yet to do so, Patil said. Asked if the delay was because of the Union government's plans to include caste in the next census, he denied it.

Backward Classes Minister Shivaraj Thangadagi said, "We have decided to discuss it at the next cabinet meeting, which will be held next week."

In a major decision, the cabinet has given approval to fix 4 per cent reservation for physically challenged officials from Group A and Group B (junior level), while giving promotion. Patil said that as per the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Act, 2016 (RPWD Act), opportunity has been given, provided reservation in promotion is in accordance with instructions issued by the government from time to time.

CA site for Congress Bhavan

The Cabinet approved giving a 3,404 sqm CA site for construction of a Congress Bhavan for the Chikkaballapura District Congress. This will come up at Anakanuru village in Chikkaballapura district. The cost of this land will be 5 per cent of the guidance value, and the land will be free, the minister said.

Specialists to retire at 65 yrs

The cabinet approved increasing retirement age for specialists working in government super speciality hospitals from the existing 60 years to 65 years. According to Patil, there are around 500 posts of specialists, of which only 250 are filled. "If senior specialists retire, there will be more vacancies, hence the decision," he said.

Govt postpones 2nd-year fete

Bengaluru: The Congress-led state government has postponed the celebration to mark its second-year term in power in view of the prevailing situation in the country. The government had earlier decided to hold a big event on May 20. Speaking to reporters after the cabinet meeting on Friday, Law Minister HK Patil said they wanted to showcase the state government's achievements to people. "But in a situation like this (war-like situation) in the country, we have decided that no such celebration will be made at this juncture. We have postponed the celebration," he said. Meanwhile, the cabinet appreciated and congratulated the Indian defence forces on Operation Sindoor to avenge the terror attack in Pahalgam. "We have congratulated the armed forces and complimented those who were involved in specific operations," Patil said.

MY TAKE

Civil defence can drill the civilian warrior into us

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

WAR, or an "undeclared war" involving active conflict like the ongoing one between India and Pakistan, does not involve only the armed forces. It potentially involves each and every citizen of the country. While the armed forces actively engage the enemy, it is up to the citizens to prepare themselves for emergency situations arising from possible enemy attacks on civilian areas.

The go-to has remained on our mental back-burner, only now fished out from the bottom with an almost-war going on. It is the little-known 'civil defence', the drills of which train citizens to protect and help themselves during man-made or natural emergencies, without waiting for better-trained professionals from departments concerned to arrive on the scene, saving crucial time. Civil defence training is key to making citizens familiar with what steps to take to mitigate damage to life or property in such situations.

The cowardly terror attack of April 22 in Pahalgam in South Kashmir claimed the lives of 26 innocent, unarmed male tourists. The resulting beyond-the-threshold spike in tension in the Indo-Pak relations saw India clinically targeting nine terror locations — five in Pakistan Occupied Kashmir and four in Pakistan — in the wee hours of May 7. Anticipating a response from Pakistan, and a war, the Centre announced nationwide civil defence mock drills for citizens, starting May 7, in all 244 civil defence districts of the country. These are specially designated regions acting as administrative hubs to facilitate civil defence preparedness to train civilian citizens in emergency preparedness and response.

However, the public response to the call for the mock drills has been lukewarm, even as these drills fail to cover the entire population. Of the 244 civil defence districts, three are in Karnataka — Bengaluru, Uttara Kannada and Raichur. But many people living in these areas failed to even hear air raid sirens, let alone being a part of the drills.

Technologies in modern warfare do not exempt citizens from being vulnerable to attacks just because they are far from the international borders shared with the enemy country. Missiles apart, terror attacks have taken place thousands of kilometres away from the sources of blessings and patronage for the terrorists involved. Besides, natural disasters, or even other man-made disasters, often come without warnings. That raises the level of importance for each adult citizen to be trained in civil defence drills, making it imperative for the state government to ensure that civilians remain in a state of readiness to respond to emergencies.

Civil defence mock drills involve simulated emergency conditions, as close to real scenarios, arising from air raids; natural disasters; terror attacks; building/ bridge collapses; road, rail or air disasters; gas cylinder explosions; or even sudden medical emergencies like, for example, a large number of people affected by severe food or water contamination. It is not just responding to air raid sirens and ensuring that glass windows of our houses are covered with dark paper to prevent light from spilling out at night to alert enemy pilots — something older adults are familiar with from the days of the 1971 war with Pakistan.

Civil defence involves training citizens to save oneself and others from threat situations. The training and drills include learning medical resuscitation; first-aid use in medical emergencies; different kinds of body lifts to evacuate the injured, depending on the nature of injuries; learning to tie different types of knots on ropes to secure the injured from locations posing a challenge for evacuating the victims; besides minimising injuries to self during air raids, missile attacks, various types of disasters/ accidents or natural catastrophes. Another objective of civil defence — besides saving lives and minimising loss of property — is to keep people's morale high during calamities.

Civil defence training must be made mandatory to all, beginning with basics taught in schools and colleges to every student. More so, because the training would come in handy to save someone needing help, and such situations can come without warnings.

We need to realise: members of the armed forces heroically fight on the fronts, but they undergo intense training over years to deliver their best to protect the country. But they were once civilians themselves. It's from among the civilians that gritty soldiers, sailors and airmen emerge. Some make it to the armed forces, many don't. But the spirit among civilians to protect and save each other, during times such as the present, must be, and remain, strong. Civil defence drills the 'civilian warrior' into us.

MBC leaders slam new quota, caste inaccuracies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru:

KARNATAKA'S More and Most Backward Caste (MBCs) leaders came together under the leadership of actor-activist Chetan Ahimsa on Thursday, to criticise the Backward Classes Commission, and denounce what they said was "betrayal of social justice".

Terming the newly-introduced 1B reservation category "unscientific, unjust, and politically motivated", speakers accused the Commission of bypassing academic and employment data and educational statistics to fabricate the category for political convenience. "This is not social justice," declared one speaker.

MBC nomadic communities demanded their own scientific subclassification.

Actor Chetan Ahimsa said that while the Karnataka Socio-Economic & Educational Survey (SES-2015) was billed as a tool for social justice, it is looking more like caste manipulation. Ahimsa pointed to the sudden formation of 1B category in April 2025, which grants 12 per cent reservation to 80 castes, including the Kuruba community, to which Chief Minister Siddaramaiah belongs. He questioned why castes previously under Groups 1 and 2A were reshuffled, and communities like Kurubas (formerly 2A) were placed with some of the state's most vulnerable, such as Devadasis and Hallaki Vokkaligas.

"The math doesn't add up," he said. "1B has a population of 73.9 lakh, smaller than 2A's 77.7 lakh, yet gets 2 per cent more reservation. What justifies this?"

BJP, Suhas' kin meet guv, seek NIA probe

Parents of murdered VHP activist Suhas Shetty and BJP leaders led by state president BY Vijayendra and LoP R Ashoka meet Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot at Raj Bhavan in Bengaluru on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE family members of murdered VHP activist Suhas Shetty, accompanied by a delegation of senior BJP leaders, met Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot at Raj Bhavan on Friday, and demanded an NIA probe into the killing.

The BJP delegation included its state president BY Vijayendra, Opposition Leader in the Assembly R Ashoka, MLAs and MPs.

"We do not have faith in the state government. We have appealed for an NIA probe into my son's murder case," Shetty's mother told media persons after meeting the governor. She said the governor told them that they will get justice.

Shetty's mother said her son is a Hindu activist and not a rowdy. "I am not well and am suffering from cancer, but I will continue to fight till my last breath to get justice for my son."

Ashoka said the supari (contract) for Shetty's murder was given from abroad and the compensation given to Mohammed Fazil's family was also used to fund the murder. Hitting out at Assembly Speaker UT Khader, the BJP leader said the Speaker claimed that Fazil's family was not involved in it, but the police commissioner had stated that they had given supari. "As Speaker, what was the need for him to speak about the murder case? He is the first Speaker to speak for those accused in a murder case," he said, adding that they do not have any faith in the state government.

In the coastal region, many people are supporting those raising pro-Pakistan slogans or those involved in criminal acts, and they are directly supported by Pakistan and Gulf nations, he alleged. "That was the reason for the murders. If we want peace in the region, those who raise pro-Pakistan slogans need to be dealt with like how those in Pakistan are hit as part of Operation Sindoor," he said.

BJP state president BY Vijayendra said they have also urged the governor to direct the state government to deport all Pakistani nationals staying illegally in the state.

Khader: Priority was to ensure harmony in tense situation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mangaluru

ASSEMBLY Speaker U T Khader on Friday said it is up to the state government whether to hand over the Suhas Shetty murder case to the National Investigation Authority (NIA) or not, and he has no objection to any probe.

Responding to a media query on the Opposition BJP demanding a NIA probe into the case and criticism of the ongoing probe by the local police, Khader said, "I have already requested the authorities to arrest all the culprits in the case and those involved in assaults after the crime. The accused in the case must be given strict punishment. Nobody has a right to kill anyone."

Asked about allegations of him influencing the probe and his recent remark that Mohammed Fazil's family had claimed that they were not involved in the case, Khader said, "There was a tense situation when the murder took place. My priority at that time was to ensure communal harmony in my district. Hence, whatever information I received, I shared it in public."

He said his intention at that time was that the situation did not get worse. "The police have investigated and arrested whoever was involved in the murder. People of my constituency know me and critics don't bother me. Such criticism is not new to me. Those who trust me will not take those allegations seriously. All doubts in the murder case must be cleared."

To a query on the BJP allegations of his links with one Mustafa under whom the accused in the murder case worked and allegations of him attending a cricket tournament organised by Mustafa, Khader said, "I get invitations for weddings, cricket tournaments and local events. But I did not attend this particular cricket tournament as I was busy. Some are politicising the issue. For me politics is not important, but communal harmony and fraternity in my district is. Our district must get more development work and investments. Nobody should derail development in our district," he added.

RTPS checks readiness with def drill

Volunteers and security personnel during the 'Operation Abhyaas' mock drill at RTPS on Friday

AS part of the civil defence mock drill amid the escalating tensions between India and Pakistan, the Raichur District Disaster Management Authority and the district administration, along with various departments, organised 'Operation Abhyaas' on the helipad premises of Raichur Thermal Power Station (RTPS) in Shaktinagar on Friday.

People were sensitised on the measures and precautions to be taken in case of an air attack on India. Volunteers were taught how to handle the seriously injured and casualties in case of air strikes. Bombs were also simulated using fireworks.

In the mock drill that lasted for 30 minutes, fire and emergency services personnel also demonstrated to the public how to respond to any kind of emergency.

People were also shown how to extinguish fire and how to rescue people and move them to safer places.

Later, Raichur Deputy Commissioner Nitish K explained that the main purpose of the mock drill was to show citizens how to protect themselves in the event of an attack on India by enemy countries.

"Everyone, including students and youths, together with the district administration, should be prepared for any kind of situation," MLA Basanagouda Daddal said.

The 23-year-old Murali Naik, who joined the Army in December 2022, served under Army No: A3451489H in the AV (OPR) trade. Hailing from a humble background, Murali was the son of M Jyothibai and M Sreeram Naik, both daily wage earners in the remote tribal hamlet.

His sacrifice has brought both immense pride and profound sorrow to his village.

Upon receiving the tragic news, Andhra Pradesh Minister S Savitha personally visited the bereaved family to offer condolences. On behalf of the state government, she extended immediate financial assistance of ₹5 lakh to the family.

Kerala woman still critical, 45 contacts under watch

NIPAH

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Malappuram

KERALA Health Minister Veena George on Friday said the condition of the woman from Valanchery in Malappuram, who tested positive for Nipah, remains critical. The 42-year-old is undergoing intensive treatment at the Perinthalmanna hospital.

Stressing that preventive measures should be intensified, Veena said masks have been mandatory in places where people gather.

The minister said 49 people in the woman's contact list, 12 of them close relatives, are under observation. Five others, including the staff nurse of the Perinthalmanna hospital, are in isolation. Their samples have been sent for testing. The test results of six other people who showed symptoms were found negative. "As many as 45 people are in the high-risk category, while four are in the low-risk category," Veena said.

The 42-year-old had first sought treatment for high fever at a private clinic in Valanchery on April 25. As her condition deteriorated and she struggled with shortness of breath, she was shifted to the hospital in Perinthalmanna on May 1. When she exhibited symptoms consistent with Nipah, her swab sample was sent to the National Institute of Virology, Pune, which confirmed the infection on Thursday.

WALKING DOWN MEMORY LANE

When the new Pope visited God's own country

ANU KURUVILLA @Kochi

THE joy of the Catholic Church in Kerala knew no bounds when the name of Cardinal Robert Francis Prevost was announced as the new pope by Cardinal Protodeacon Dominique Mamberti from the balcony of St Peter's Basilica in The Vatican. The reason behind the exaltation is the close bond Fr Robert Francis Prevost — long before he became Pope Leo XIV — shares with the Church in Kerala. He is being hailed as the pontiff who once walked the soil of Kerala!

As the Prior General of the Order of St Augustine (OSA), Fr Robert Francis Prevost visited Kochi in 2004 and 2006 — on the first occasion for the priesthood ordination ceremony of six OSA deacons and then for a meeting of the OSA superiors of the Asia Pacific region.

Speaking about the Pope, Archbishop of Verapoly Joseph Kalathiparambil said the new pontiff has a close relationship with Kerala. "We offer him our heartfelt and prayerful wishes. The years that he spent as a missionary reflect in the simplicity of his life," he said.

About Fr Robert Francis Prevost's visit to Kerala, the archbishop said, "The pontiff, who was then the Prior General of the OSA, had come for the priesthood ordination ceremony of six deacons who were the members of the OSA under the Varapuzha archdiocese in Aluva."

Pope Leo XIV (3rd from left) visited Kerala twice as the Prior General of the Order of St Augustine (OSA)

He also participated in the Holy Mass at the newly constructed St Francis Xavier's Church, Kaloor. The main celebrant of the ceremony was the then Varapuzha Archbishop Daniel Acharuparambil. During Fr Robert Francis Prevost's visit in 2006, he came to the archdiocese headquarters and the historic Basilica of Our Lady of Mount Carmel and St Joseph, Varapuzha, a spiritual landmark in the archdiocese of Verapoly. "These visits remain cherished memories for many faithful," said Archbishop Kalathiparambil.

"His life is an example of simplicity. Hence, we can say that his Pontifical service will be a successful one. His approach towards the poor, the needy and the marginalised in society reflects the path taken by Pope Francis. So, we can believe that Pope Leo XIV will also follow the same path. He has been a part of the Order of St Augustine. It should be noted that Archbishop Aleixo de Menezes, who played a pivotal role in the reformation of the Kerala Church through the Synod of Diamper, was also a member of the OSA. We can call Pope Leo XIV his successor," said Archbishop Kalathiparambil. He is also the first Pope from the order.

"Today, as Pope Leo XIV, he carries with him the memory of these sacred places and encounters. His connection to Kerala is a sign of the Church's universality and the hidden ways of divine providence," he said.

INDIA HITS OUT AT PAKISTAN'S 'DERANGED FANTASY' CLAIMS

Foreign secretary slams Pak's campaign that India targeted its own cities and Nankana Sahib Gurdwara across the border

Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri speaks during a special briefing in New Delhi; Wing Commander Vyomika Singh and Colonel Sofiya Qureshi | PTI

> Pakistan is trying desperately to impart a communal hue to the situation with an intention to create discord. Again, we are not surprised. India's steadfast unity in itself is a challenge to Pakistan
>
> – Vikram Misri, Foreign Secretary

JAYANTH JACOB @New Delhi

In a scathing takedown of Pakistan's disinformation campaign, Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said allegations that India targeted its own cities, and more outrageously, Nankana Sahib Gurdwara across the border is kind of "deranged fantasy that only Pakistan can come up with." "Perhaps they do it because they are well-versed in such action, as their history would show," Misri said.

Misri further said that as with the Pahalgam attack, Pakistan is once again trying to provoke communal tensions to create discord. "Pakistan is trying desperately to impart a communal hue to the situation with an intention to create discord. Again, we are not surprised. India's steadfast unity in itself is a challenge to Pakistan," Misri said. The foreign secretary accused Pakistan of intentionally targeting religious sites — such as Sikh gurudwaras, Christian convents, and Hindu temples — as part of a deliberate strategy to incite communal unrest and mislead the global community. "We have seen Pakistan targeting and shelling places of worship with a particular design. This includes gurudwaras, convents and temples. This is a new low even for Pakistan," he said.

Misri, then, highlighted a specific attack on a gurdwara in Poonch, Jammu & Kashmir, on May 8, which resulted in the deaths of three Sikh community members and was part of Pakistani shelling that caused civilian deaths.

"The gurudwara in Poonch, in particular, was attacked by Pakistan, and some local members of the Sikh community lost their lives in this incident. However, Pakistan has accused India of targeting the Nankana Sahib Gurudwara through a drone attack. This is again a lie and a part of Pakistan's disinformation campaign," he emphasised.

Despite Pakistan's official denials, Misri pointed out that multiple religious sites in India were hit. "A Pakistani shell hit near the Christ School in Poonch, killing two students and injuring their parents. A separate shell damaged infrastructure at a convent belonging to the Carmelites of Mary Immaculate," Misri said.

Meanwhile, Misri also rejected Pakistan's allegations of Indian attacks on religious sites asserting that Operation Sindoor was limited to terrorist facilities and did not target civilian or military infrastructure. He further criticised Pakistan's history of misinformation, adding "This is a country that started lying the moment it was born."

Govt reviews health infra; 24x7 centre to support border states

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

AMID ESCALATING tensions between India and Pakistan, Union Health Minister J P Nadda held a high-level meeting, reviewed the current readiness of healthcare infrastructure, including availability of essential medicines, medical supplies, and adequate fire safety measures across the country.

The Centre, on Friday, also set up a 24/7 control and command centre to monitor ongoing efforts and seamlessly support states, especially border states, during medical emergencies. "The Union Health Ministry is closely monitoring the situation and remains committed to ensuring uninterrupted healthcare services and emergency response across all regions," said a statement issued by the ministry.

> The Union Health Ministry is closely monitoring the situation and remains committed to ensuring uninterrupted healthcare services

> Ministry statement

Following the meeting, Nadda directed that ground-level linkages with all state governments, particularly at the district levels, especially border states, be effectively established to ensure immediate emergency healthcare, if required. He also stressed all medical emergency response health systems be adequately equipped and functional at all times. Top officials, who were present at the meeting, briefed him about the current status of medical preparedness for handling emergency cases. "He was apprised of the actions taken regarding deployment of ambulances; ensuring adequate availability of medical supplies including equipment, medicines, supply of blood vials and consumables; hospital readiness in terms of beds, ICU and HDU; deployment of BHISHM Cubes, advanced mobile trauma care units etc.," the statement said.

At the meeting, Union health secretary Punya Salila Srivastava informed about a series of her meetings with states/UTS, and central government hospitals and healthcare institutes to ensure seamless coordination with relevant stakeholders at the Centre and within the states for ensuring effective response.

Nadda was also informed that as a precautionary measure, all hospitals, both government and private, located near the India-Pakistan border have been placed on high alert. According to officials, hospitals and medical institutions have been advised to ensure the availability of essential drugs, an adequate supply of blood, oxygen, trauma care kits, etc. The All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), New Delhi, and other central government hospitals have mobilised doctors and nurses with supplies for ready deployment.

Pak deep state misfires, massive defence spend comes a cropper

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

HEAD TO HEAD

- 'Operation Sindoor' marks India's most extensive, co-ordinated multi-service cross-border military action in five decades, surpassing the scale and depth of 2016 surgical strikes and the 2019 Balakot airstrikes.
- The failure to gain any sort of bragging rights in this latest round of aerial skirmish has left the Pakistani establishment with no option but to confuse and distract its people with patently false claims and absurd denials

THE ESCALATION was from across the border when heavily armed terrorists mercilessly gunned down 26 innocent tourists. 25 Indians and a Nepalese national, at Baisaran in Kashmir's Pahalgam on April 22.

In response, India unleashed 24 missiles in 25 minutes beginning 1am on May 7 on nine terror bases; four in Pakistan, including Bahawalpur in Punjab, Muridke and Sialkot, and five in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir (PoK), under 'Operation Sindoor'.

Bahawalpur and Muridke are the strongholds of proscribed terrorist organisations Jaish-e-Mohammed (JeM) and Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT). 'Operation Sindoor' was jointly executed by the Indian Army, Navy and Air Force, utilising special precision munitions. All the nine targets were successfully neutralised in a span of 25 minutes.

Within 24 hours, on the intervening night of May 7 and 8, Pakistan attempted to engage a number of military targets in Northern and Western India, including Awantipura, Srinagar, Jammu, Pathankot, Amritsar, Kapurthala, Jalandhar, Ludhiana, Adampur, Bhatinda, Chandigarh, Nal, Phalodi, Uttarlai, and Bhuj, using drones and missiles.

"These were neutralised by the Integrated Counter UAS Grid and Air Defence systems," the Ministry of Defence stated. In response, the Indian armed forces targeted Air Defence radars and systems at a number of locations in Pakistan, including Lahore and Rawalpindi.

In the background of 'Operation Sindoor' and Pakistan's response to it, strategists are questioning the defence capabilities of Islamabad, which with a defence budget of Pakistani Rs 2.12 lakh crore (INR 64,082 crore) for FY 2024-25 is at 1.7% of their gross domestic product (GDP). According to media reports, the Pakistan's coalition government, citing the conflict, has endorsed an 18% increase in defence spending to over Rs 2.5 trillion in the new fiscal beginning July 1.

In India Rs 6.81 lakh crore was allocated for the defence sector for FY 2025-26, including Rs 1.8 lakh crore for the modernisation of the military. India's defence budget accounted for 1.9% of the country's projected GDP for 2024-25.

'Operation Sindoor' marks India's most extensive, co-ordinated multi-service cross-border military action in five decades, surpassing the scale and depth of 2016 surgical strikes and the 2019 Balakot airstrikes.

The performance of Pakistani army on the other hand has been rather dismal. The failure to gain any sort of bragging rights in this latest round of aerial skirmish has left the Pakistani establishment with no option but to confuse and distract its people with patently false claims and absurd denials, which sometimes are contradictory in the same sentence.

This time around, India correctly calibrated its response to the Pahalgam incident. Balakot was an excellent operation in itself, but it did not escalate sufficiently enough to allow India's quantitative superiority to assert itself. As a result, Pakistan army could brag to its people of having downed a MiG-21 while hiding its own losses.

Under 'Operation Sindoor,' India expanded the scope of response to nine locations, including one in Bahawalpur, located around 100km inside Pakistan's Punjab province. This outwitted Pakistani generals, who took the bait and resorted to a much larger response but to no gain. The false claims of Pakistan army of shooting down five Indian jets ran hollow at a time when Rawalpindi, Lahore, Karachi, Multan, Sargodha and Islamabad reeled under Indian reprisals.

The other important and significant aspect of this conflict has been the utter failure of Chinese and Turkish (drones) arsenal used by the Pakistan army.

The much-touted HQ-9 system (long-range semi-active radar homing (SARH) surface-to-air missile (SAM) developed by the People's Republic of China (PRC) were rendered useless thanks to Indian Harop drones. Similarly multiple specimens of intact PL-15 (a highly advanced long-range air-to-air missile developed by China's People's Liberation Army Air Force (PLAAF) to enhance its beyond-visual-range (BVR) combat capabilities) have been recovered in Punjab in India suggesting that the pilots who launched them at Indian aircraft may have overestimated the kill range. The missile didn't work like it is touted to do.

The Pakistani counter attack with Chinese and Turkish drone barrages also failed miserably against the Akash/MRSAM (medium range surface-to-air-missile) and even antiaircraft guns suggesting they are not only wanting in manoeuvrability but also are easily detectable by radars. Conscientious Pakistanis and critics — a vanishing breed mostly found in exile or prison these days — must be wondering why, after having spent over ₹2,00,000 crore a year for defence, the army has come up so short in a limited conflict.

India's use of indigenously-built SkyStriker 'Kamikaze' or suicide drones – loitering munitions - to carry out precision strikes in Pakistan and PoK, along with SCALP cruise missiles and Hammer bombs was a master stroke. Developed by Bengaluru-based Alpha Design (ADTL) in collaboration with Israel's Elbit Systems, these are GPS guided loitering munitions, that can carry payload up to 10 kg, lethal enough to dismantle eight to 10 bunkers or a three-storey building. These are low-cost missiles that can be launched within India and hit targets located up to 100 kilometres.

India's air defence success: A saga of decade-long toil

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR

Tech advanced airspace defence network

Today, India operates a technologically advanced airspace defence network capable of detecting, jamming, and neutralising threats before they can penetrate.

THE SURGICAL precision with which India destroyed terror camps in Pakistan and its occupied territories in Kashmir not only asserted the country's status as one of the most forceful nations in counter-terror operations, but also exposed the vulnerabilities in Pakistan's defence network.

It took over a decade for India to strategically strengthen its air defence system and enhance its combat power by incorporating cutting-edge warfare technologies. "Many experts believe the successful execution of Operation Sindoor has sent a clear and unequivocal message that India is no longer just capable of defending its skies—it now commands, dictates, and controls them," remarked a senior official.

It was a loss of face for Pakistan after India avenged Pahalgam terror attack. In a move to reclaim its lost image and shore up receding spirits, Pakistan escalated the situation in the border areas by launching missile strikes on Indian military installations across Jammu and Kashmir, Punjab, Rajasthan and Gujarat.

However, every single missile was intercepted or neutralised. Despite the setback, Pakistan continued its reckless provocation by unleashing indiscriminate drone and missile attacks on the night of May 8 in several parts of India. Thanks to India's elaborate and robust air defence system, none of these attacks reached their intended targets.

Sources within the government said India's swift, coordinated response showcased the formidable strength of its air defence ecosystem—painstakingly developed over the past 11 years under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. According to information available in the publicly domain, a combination of technologies—including the Integrated Counter-Unmanned Aerial System (UAS) Grid, S-400 Triumf Systems, Barak-8 missiles, Akash surface-to-air missiles, and DRDO's anti-drone Systems—came together seamlessly to form an aerial shield over India that held firm and thwarted every single attempt by the enemy to inflict damage on this side of the border.

Amid continuous cross-border provocations, India did not limit itself to defence. It retaliated swiftly with precision, inflicting significant destruction on the Pakistani side. Under 'Operation Sindoor,' the Indian Armed Forces demonstrated their sharpest and most accurate deep-strike capabilities, penetrating Pakistani territory and destroying a Chinese-supplied HQ-9 air defence unit in Lahore, as well as damaging vital radar infrastructure.

Such preparedness is not the result of a single day's effort. Since 2014, the Modi government has systematically strengthened India's air defence architecture. Key acquisitions and developments include the Rs 35,000-crore deal for five S-400 Triumf squadrons—signed in 2018. Three squadrons are now operational along the borders with China and Pakistan. The deployment of Barak-8 Medium-Range Surface-to-Air Missiles (MR-SAM), part of a $2.5 billion deal signed in 2017 with Israel, now actively defends key bases such as Bathinda.

There are also indigenous Akash missile batteries and DRDO-developed counter-drone systems that collectively form a robust shield against enemy manoeuvres. India's Man-Portable Counter-Drone Systems (MPCDS), installed in 2024 to jam and disable hostile UAVs, have also significantly enhanced modern warfare capabilities. Notably, 'Operation Sindoor' marked the combat debut of loitering munitions—so-called 'suicidal drones' ordered in 2021 and manufactured domestically. These drones executed simultaneous, precision strikes across multiple sectors, catching Pakistan's defences completely off guard.

Along with all others, the Israeli-origin Harop drones—now being produced in India, were deployed to target and destroy air defence infrastructure in Karachi and Lahore.

These advanced systems were further complemented by the strategic use of Rafale fighter jets equipped with SCALP and HAMMER missiles, underlining India's ability to conduct precision strikes with surgical efficiency. The Modi government's defence strategy has never been about showy, one-off actions—it has been focused on building a resilient, multi-layered ecosystem.

Ganga Expressway turns a strategic asset for IAF

Night-landing drill was carried out days before Operation Sindoor

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

A FEW days ahead of Operation Sindoor, the Indian Air Force (IAF) carried out a successful night-landing exercise on the Ganga Expressway in the Shahjahanpur stretch of Uttar Pradesh.

During the exercise on May 2, the IAF deployed a range of fighter and transport aircraft, including Rafale, Sukhoi-30, Mirage-2000, MiG-29, Jaguar, C-130J Super Hercules, AN-32, and MI-17 V5 helicopters. At least 15 aircraft operated between 9pm and 10pm as part of the night drill

The 3.5km airstrip in the Shahjahanpur stretch — the first in the country to provide both day and night operations — positions the Ganga Expressway as a strategic launchpad for rapid air deployment.

Experts note that, in the event of any airbase being attacked, this expressway can instantly be converted into an operational runway, making it a vital piece of infrastructure in India's northern defence strategy.

During the exercise, night-vision goggles, instrument landing systems, infrared cameras, runway floodlighting, and ground control units were put to test. These technologies enabled precision landings in low-light conditions, underlining the IAF's growing capabilities in night-time combat and relief operations.

The dedicated airstrip on the Ganga Expressway, designed to handle large aircraft, has been equipped with 250 CCTV cameras, drone surveillance, and real-time data sharing with command centres.

This is the fourth time the IAF has employed night-vision technology for a major operation. Systems, such as image intensification and thermal imaging, allow pilots to land accurately in darkness. The technology was previously used during operations in Kargil.

The Ganga Expressway has now positioned itself as a key strategic military and disaster-relief corridor in north India, a game-changer in the country's security architecture. Successful night operations and advanced surveillance capabilities reinforce India's preparedness for multi-dimensional warfare and emergency response.

Youths offer puja for Indian soldiers at historical shrine

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

AMID the escalating tension between India and Pakistan, a special puja was performed at Ranchi's historical Pahari Mandir for the well-being of our soldiers.

With photographs of Bharat Mata along with Colonel Sofia Qureshi and Wing Commander Vyomika Singh in their hands, several youths assembled at the Shiva temple for prayers. During the puja, the priest chanted mantras for the victory of the Indian Armed Forces. Later, the youth raised slogans of 'Bharat Mata Ki Jai', 'Har Har Mahadev', 'Indian Army Zindabad', and 'Hindustan Zindabad, Pakistan Murdabad'.

"We have gathered here to pray to 'Pahari Baba' for the well-being of our soldiers and India's victory over Pakistan. Nobody has returned empty-handed from this shrine. We offered 'abhishek' with milk to Pahari Baba," said Uttam Yadav, president of Rashtriya Yuva Shakti, which organised the puja.

One of the youths, Priti Sinha, added, "We have prayed to Pahari Baba to give so much strength to our soldiers that Pakistan gets annihilated, so that no other country may ever dare any kind of misadventure with us."

Pahari Mandir is an ancient Shiva temple on a barren hill, which attracts hundreds of devotees from Ranchi and nearby areas. Notably, during the colonial era, British authorities used to hang freedom fighters on this hill, and therefore, it was named 'Fansi Tongri' (hangman's hill).

To keep their memory alive, the temple has been unfurling the Tricolour Independence and Republic Day since 1947. Perhaps it is the only place of worship in the country with such a custom.

A plaque on the temple wall also indicates the spot where the Tricolour was first hoisted on the midnight of August 14, 1947, by freedom fighter Krishna Chandra Das to honour his martyred friends.

THE Congress in Karnataka on Friday took out a massive 'Tiranga Yatra' in Bengaluru to express solidarity with the Indian armed forces engaged in 'Operation Sindoor'. The march began from KR Circle and passed through Vidhana Soudha and concluded at Minsk Square near the M Chinnaswamy Stadium.

Led by Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and ministers, the rally saw participation of more than 10,000 people, including students, retired defence personnel and senior citizens, who carried the Indian flag and raised slogans in support of the armed forces. "This yatra is a testament to our unwavering support for the brave soldiers who are protecting our borders. We stand united in the face of adversity. India will defeat Pakistan effectively just as they did during Indira Gandhi's time. India will triumph again," DyCM Shivakumar said.

On whether the Indian Army should enter Pakistan Occupied Kashmir (PoK), Shivakumar said the decision rests with the Union Government and the defense leadership. "Our armed forces are giving a befitting reply and the Tricolour flies high because of their sacrifices. At this time, we all must stand together to eliminate terrorism," Shivakumar said, maintaining that the nation would respond decisively. Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said that the rally symbolises "our solidarity with the soldiers and we appreciate the actions taken to safeguard our nation."

Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil said that the march is a message of moral support to the armed forces who have shown the world that India is the strongest and most intelligent force.

Minority Welfare Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan mentioned about the special prayers that were held across mosques under the Waqf Board jurisdiction in Karnataka on Friday afternoon for the safety and success of soldiers involved in Operation Sindoor.

Security beefed up at power plants, dams

The Karnataka government has beefed up security at all dams and power stations under the jurisdiction of Karnataka Power Corporation Limited (KPCL). KPCL issued a directive emphasising the importance of securing sensitive installations under its jurisdiction, including all reservoirs and power stations. In Belagavi district, security has been enhanced at Hidkal and Navilteerth dams. No visitors will be allowed to Hidkal dam until further notice. Several CCTV cameras have been installed on the Hidkal dam bridge. The direction also stated that any lapse in security will result in accountability for the responsible officials. The KPCL operates power generation facilities utilizing hydro, thermal, wind, solar, gas and waste-to-energy sources. Many reservoirs in the state have been developed to support hydroelectric power production, an official release here said. KPCL has also issued orders restricting the access of people to its reservoirs and powerhouses, including educational visits by engineering students and by dignitaries. This aligns with the central government orders to tighten security at sensitive locations. The restriction also aims at ensuring public safety and enhancing surveillance, the release added.

Security enhanced at KRS; defunct CCTV cameras, staff crunch reason for worry

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

SECURITY has been enhanced at the Krishnaraja Sagar Reservoir as per government directions in the wake of India's ongoing Operation Sindoor.

The Krishnaraja Sagar Reservoir is one of the prominent reservoirs that is considered to be a lifeline for Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and other southern states.

The famous Brindavan Gardens at the KRS is also one of the top attractions for tourists from across the country. Summer vacations have also increased footfall of tourists from across the region to have a glimpse of the illuminated garden and the musical fountain.

Though the Central Industrial Security Force has taken over the security of the reservoirs, including KRS, the defunct CCTV cameras, lack of facilities to screen the vehicles visiting the Brindavan Gardens, poor illumination in the vicinity and staff crunch have turned out to be a hindrance.

The CISF's 56 armed men work in three shifts around the clock and have kept vigil on the visitors and have seen that the gates are barricaded and no public is allowed to come near the reservoir structure.

The KRS police have deputed twelve men in three shifts, installed metal detectors at the entry points to frisk both men and women, and have also deployed a dog squad and a bomb detection squad.

The additional District Reserve platoon has been deployed to guard the reservoir. However, the senior officials admit that they have no surveillance in the backwaters and want the CCTV cameras in all strategic points, including entry and also above and base top of the reservoirs.

Sources said that the local hotels, home stays are directed to take photos and address of visitors and alert local police if they are found to be suspicious about their movements.

Mandya SP Mallikrajuna Baldandi said that they have advised the irrigation officials to upgrade the CCTV camera circuit and fix additional cameras so that they can keep vigil on tourists and also on core areas in and around the reservoir. He said that they have found that a few cameras are non-functional and, if necessary, additional men will be deployed to guard the reservoirs and have a track on the vehicles, and also movements in the backwaters.

He said that they may take a call on the closure of Brindavan Gardens to the public if the war-like situation escalates in the coming days, as the top priority is to protect the reservoir.

Meanwhile, Deputy Commissioner Dr Kumar said that the mock drill will be conducted at KRS on May 11 to protect the reservoir, tourists and the public in an emergency situation.

He said that this exercise is carried out to instill confidence among public in blackout -like situations or accidental fire. The mock drill will be carried out by warning teams, the control room, the evacuation team, fire firefighting force, home guard, police and medical teams.

DIPLOMACY STRUGGLES AMID UNPRECEDENTED CONFLICT ESCALATION

A day after India demolished terror infrastructure at nine sites in Pakistan and Pakistan-occupied Kashmir, the entire western border became suddenly active for the first time in ages. Swarms of Pakistani drones and missiles flew in—from Bhuj to Jammu and beyond—giving Indian air defence systems and the integrated counter unmanned aircraft system grid, which includes Russian S-400s, bragging rights on successfully neutralising the attacks. With a fresh wave of enemy drones and missiles flying in at night, blackout sirens rang out across the border, another first in decades. The Indo-Pak face-off was not as intense in the aftermath of the Pulwama terror attack in 2019 and the Balakot strike, when an alarmed international community took to diplomacy to quickly force Pakistan to stand down.

American diplomacy has not been as nimble-footed this time around, with Donald Trump having turned the world order on its head. Some stirrings of its engagement came the day after the Indian strikes, with Secretary of State Marco Rubio speaking separately with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and Pakistani Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif. In his conversation with Sharif, Rubio urged for concrete steps to end Pakistan's support to terror outfits. Meanwhile, Jaishankar told Rubio that India's response was strictly proportional, adding that any attempt to escalate the situation would be firmly dealt with. If Rubio stepped on the diplomatic gas pedal, Vice President J D Vance appeared to take his foot off by uttering a Trumpian phrase on not getting involved in a war that is 'none of the US's business'. It is this mixed messaging that gives wiggle room to aggressors. Apart from the US, Russia, the UK and the UN are exploring a role in defusing the crisis. Besides, Saudi Arabia and Iran sent ministers to play peacemaker. While India changed the playbook by not sharing the Pahalgam evidence with Pakistan, it would have handed copies of the probe dossier to the aspirant interlocutors.

Among lenders, the World Bank has already decided not to intervene after India put the Indus Waters Treaty in abeyance. Others like the IMF, too, must turn their fund squeeze on the broke exporter of global terror and stare down its army chief, General Asim Munir. As for PM Sharif, he does not have the requisite political stature. Perhaps his seasoned brother Nawaz has the heft to put the genie back in the bottle.

PRAYERS FOR CHANGE IN FRONT OF NEW POPE

AN American has been chosen the new pope. The election of the Chicago-born Robert Francis Prevost as the leader of the world's 1.4 billion Roman Catholics signals a change in the church that is more cardinal than symbolic. The first North American pope to follow the first Latin American one underscores the church's shifting power centre and offers hope for further diversification. A lot will depend on how Pope Leo XIV, as he will be known, chooses to lead his flock. He can build on the progressive legacy of his predecessor, or chart a new course to create a legacy of his own. He even has the option to return the church to its conservative ways, which would gladden those within the community who were not in tune with Pope Francis's changes.

Pope Leo's key task would be to deal with the Catholic church's contentious legacy of sexual abuse. He needs to quickly understand the scope of the problem as well as the pain and anger of the survivors. His approach, especially towards protecting the vulnerable, will be under scrutiny. He will also be required to strengthen unity within the church, which passed through a period of intense polarisation under two successive popes who represented the opposing ends of the spectrum. In India, he has the job of maintaining the unity of the Kerala-based Syro-Malabar Church, where two factions are bitterly split over ways to conduct the holy mass.

The world will also be watching how Pope Leo approaches LGBTQ+ rights. Pope Francis was more inclusive of the community than any pontiff before him, but did not change the official doctrine. Better representation for women is another key demand that needs to be addressed adequately. The new pope would also be expected to offer a calming hand on global conflicts and direct the church on the divisive issues of migration and climate crisis. Within the Vatican, governance issues and deteriorating finances need fixing. When he was a cardinal in the US, Pope Leo criticised the Trump administration's immigration policy and disagreed with the vice president's interpretation of a Christian doctrine. If that is an indication of what may follow, there is reason to hope he would continue broadly along the course Pope Francis struck through these rough seas.

QUICK TAKE

UNDERCOUNTING THE DEAD

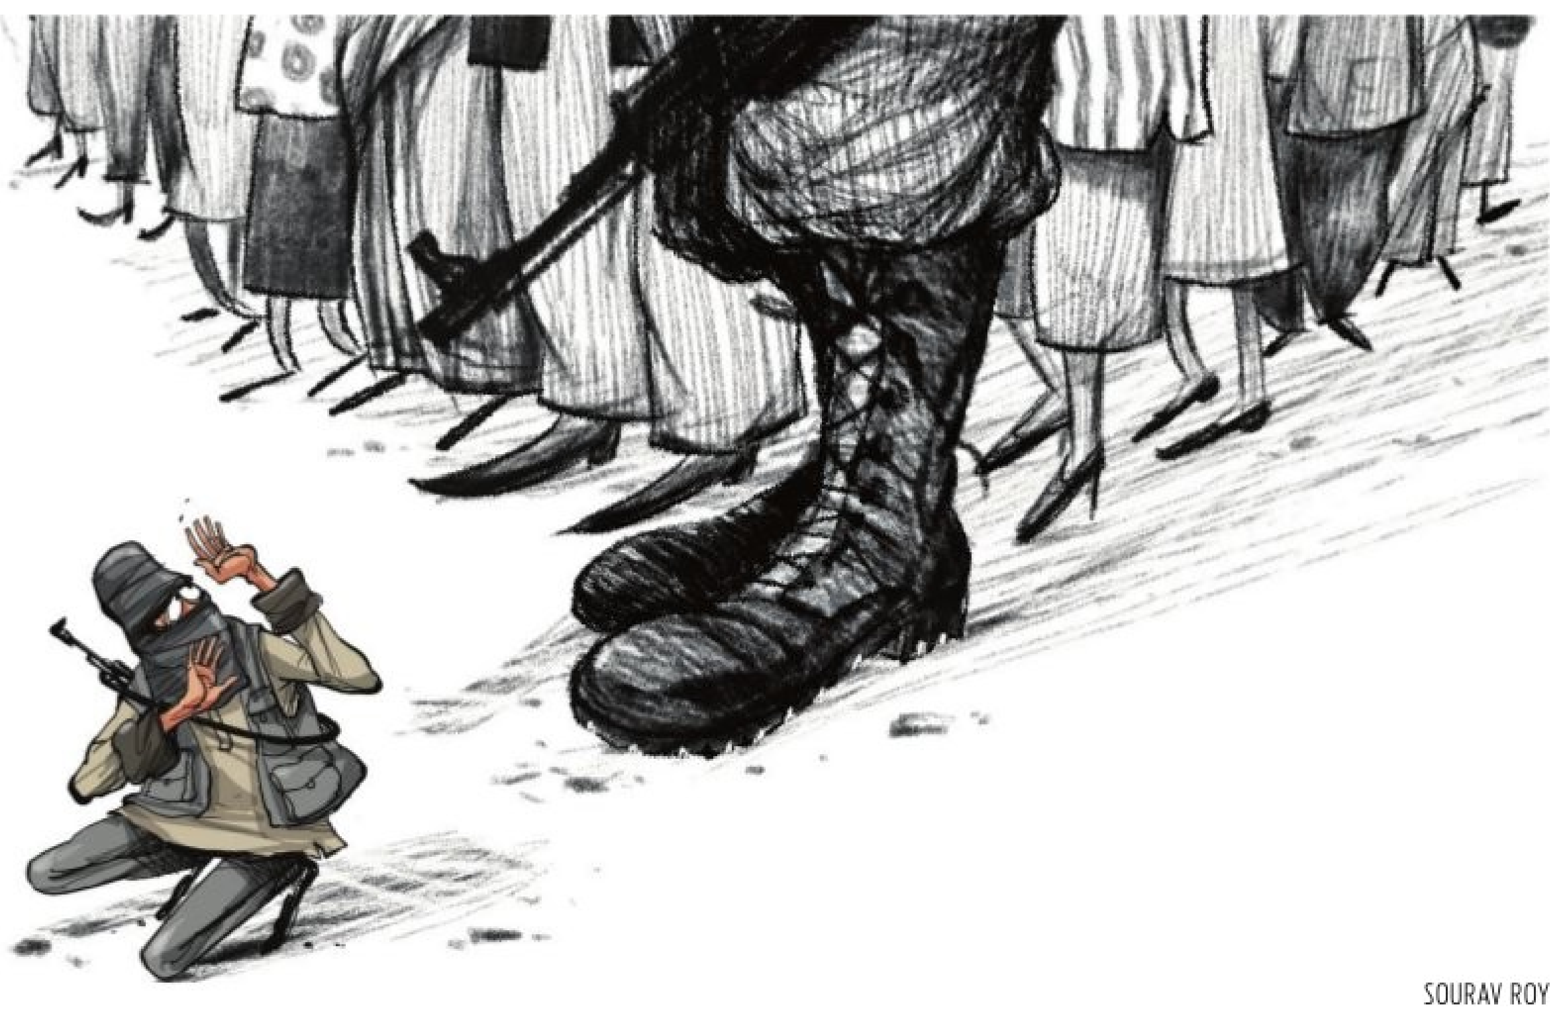
NEW vital statistics of India released Wednesday show that deaths in Covid year 2021—when the dreaded Delta variant wreaked havoc—were almost six times higher than what was officially recognised at the time. After adjusting the civil registration data for population growth, there are still about 20 lakh uncounted deaths; the official toll for the year was only 3.3 lakh. Though not all of this can be attributed to Covid, the huge discrepancy is a crying shame and a serious worry. It puts India's official statistics under a scanner, and shows that lakhs of families missed out on the relief measures. The implications need to be studied and accountability fixed.

India's response to the Uri, Pulwama and Pahalgam attacks show step-ups in both military capability and political will. The stronger reaction to civilian deaths marks another change

URI TO PAHALGAM: A CLEAR SHIFT IN NATIONAL STRATEGY

MAJ GEN ASHOK KUMAR, VSM (RETD)

Kargil war veteran and Director General, Centre for Joint Warfare Studies



SOURAV ROY

THE carnage wrought by the Pakistani establishment and handlers in Pahalgam on April 22—killing a large number of tourists from different parts of the country, that too on the basis of religion—was the first escalatory action by Pakistan. India has responded not only in the political, diplomatic, economic and energy domains, but also by hitting terrorists and their infrastructure both in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir as well as in the Punjab province of Pakistan, with the hits ranging from 30 to 100 km.

While the reaction by Pakistan and counter-reaction from India continue on the escalation matrix, something very important has happened wherein the national security strategy of India appears to have taken a new leap. The subsequent details unfold the emergence of a new India.

Pakistan has been using illegitimate means to claim Jammu and Kashmir, despite J&K having acceded into the Union of India as per norms included in the Independence Act passed by the British parliament. It invaded India in 1947, besides fighting the war of 1947-48, and the two later wars of 1965 and 1971. While Pakistan has been using terrorists right from the beginning, it gave deliberate thoughts to its J&K strategy after losing East Pakistan in 1971.

It made the terrorism a primary means of waging a proxy war in J&K, which was fully blown up 1990 onwards. It totally shattered the peace and tranquillity of the region and forced the migration of Kashmiri Pandits from the valley, who lost their natural habitat and wealth.

While the level of terrorism has continued since then in varying levels of intensity due to effective action by the Indian armed forces, the sanctity of the Line of Control (LoC) was largely maintained till it was violated by Pakistan in 1999, resulting in the fourth conflict between the two nations. Even under such a situation, India maintained its posture to respect the LoC and throw off Pakistani incursions.

Meanwhile, the Pakistan Army and their Inter-Services Intelligence handlers have been spearheading the proxy war in the state of J&K and elsewhere in India. They have been regularly raising the threshold of such terrorist actions. In a series of such activities, they attacked the brigade headquarters in Uri, killing close to 20 persons on September 18, 2016. India responded by launching surgical strikes at multiple locations on September 29. These strikes were launched by the ground forces, restricted across the LoC and limited to terrorist infrastructure and terrorists.

The most important high point of this strike should not be measured by the damage it caused, but by the overt support of the political establishment to such an operation—a first of its kind. This was emergence of a new India, where the political leadership displayed courage to own up such actions.

But Pakistan has never learnt its lessons despite successive losses in wars and has continued its proxy war. A major terrorist strike was made on a Central Reserve Police Force convoy on February 14, 2019, where 40 persons were killed. This was responded to by India on February 26, by launching airstrikes in the Balakot area of Pakistan-occupied Kashmir—this time too, the targets were the terrorists and their launch pads.

There was a common pattern with the post-Uri surgical strikes in terms of the nature of targets being terrorists and their infrastructure, the area still being across the LoC in Pakistan-occupied Kashmir and overt support of the political establishment. But a new element was also added this time—the Indian Air Force used fighter aircraft to launch these strikes across the LoC. The understanding that the LoC was to be respected according to the 1972 Simla Agreement had already been fractured by Pakistan in 1999 during the Kargil conflict. So, India's use of airpower across the LoC was a new level of engagement that displayed our national intent as well as the posture of standing up to the Pakistani response that might have included its nuclear bluff.

While India's response covered all the domains after the Pahalgam strike of April 22, it launched attacks targeting nine locations at around 1:20 am in the morning of May 7. These strikes took Indian response to a new threshold. While the nature of targets selected by India and the overt support of the political establishment continued, the strikes were not only limited to areas of Pakistan-occupied Kashmir across the LoC, but were also taken to the Pakistani Punjab province.

The strikes were devastating for Pakistani terrorists and their infrastructure, with the killing of a large number of terrorists, their supporters and family members, including those involved in the hijacking of the Indian Airlines flight 814 en route from Kathmandu to Delhi on December 24, 1999. This time, neither the rest of the world, nor the Pakistani and Indian masses needed any proof of the damages, as it was all over the place, including an acceptance by the Pakistani establishment.

India had entered a much higher orbit of national response this time, fracturing the Pakistani belief in conventional and nuclear domain in addition to decimating the Chinese equipment's efficiency claim. The action not only demonstrated the national will to undertake punitive responsive actions on those who attempt to fracture our national fabric, but also breaking and exposing the ineffectiveness of the China-Pakistan collusion.

The main point to note is the national will to respond with enhanced intensity, wherein India opted for much stronger actions when 26 civilians were killed, as against when 40 Central Reserve Police Force personnel were killed in 2019. This capacity-building, created over the years, has cemented the political courage required in the country, wherein India can opt for an even higher response when terrorist activity takes place anywhere within the borders, killing even a single person.

This national bondage with citizens with the willingness to strike opponents is a definite turning point in India's national strategy. It's a much-needed shift that was required to take India to the select few nations in the world having such a capability as well as the political will.

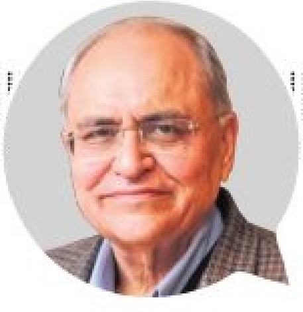
DECISIVE ACTION vs STRONG WORDS

BALBIR PUNJ



Former Chairman, Indian Institute of Mass Communication

THE ongoing skirmishes between Indian and Pakistan, pregnant with the possibility of turning into a full-scale war, mark a paradigm shift in India's posture in dealing with the terror menace and a difficult neighbour.

On the night of May 6-7, the Indian Army launched a bold military operation deep inside Pakistan, annihilating nine terrorist bases. Among the 100 or so slain were multiple jihadists, including 10 relatives of Jaish-e-Mohammed chief Masood Azhar. Contrast it with the reticent India of 2008, when it remained largely mute after Pakistani terrorists killed 166 innocents in the 26/11 Mumbai attacks.

The retribution by India, albeit anticipated, was unprecedented in its sheer scale, precision, detailed planning and meticulous execution. This path-breaking initiative was a healthy departure from the past, when any foreign-sponsored terror act usually evoked only 'strong protests' or 'kadi ninda' (strong condemnation).

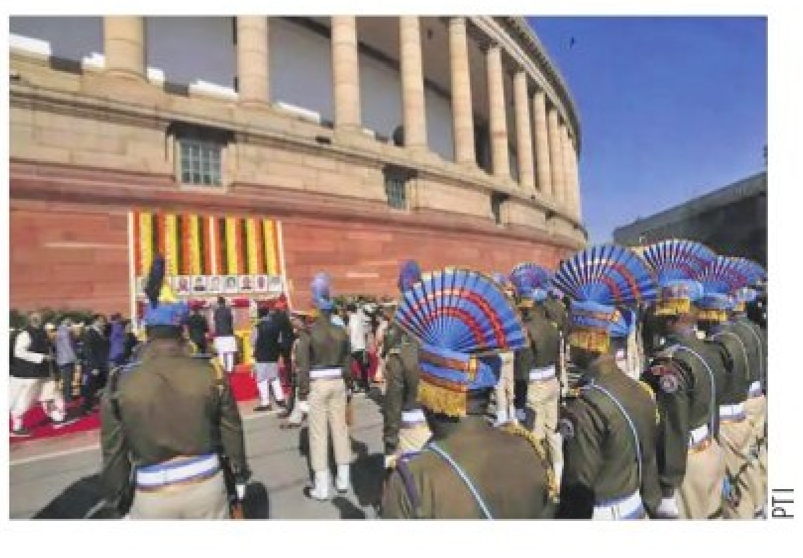
Meanwhile, the terrorists happily retreated to their state-maintained safe havens in Pakistan, busying themselves with their next target and preparing for a new strike. The vicious cycle continued unabated.

The grim tally of jihadist attacks—including the ones on the Indian parliament (2001), Akshardham temple (2002), Mumbai (2006, 2008, 2011), Delhi (2005, 2008), Jaipur (2008), Ahmedabad (2008), Pune (2010), Varanasi (2010), Hyderabad (2013), and Bodh Gaya (2013)—testifies to this strategic inertia. Around 500 innocent lives were lost in these terrorist attacks. If one were to include other acts of terrorism alongside those in Jammu & Kashmir, the death toll would be significantly higher.

That inertia, however, is now a thing of the past. In the last 11 years, barring historically volatile Jammu & Kashmir and some Maoist-infested districts, the rest of India has hardly experienced any significant terror attacks. This relative peace can be attributed to the changed paradigm that the current Indian leadership is pursuing in dealing with terror and those sustaining it, within and outside the country.

In response to earlier terror attacks—Uri in 2016 and Pulwama in 2019—India carried out surprise surgical strikes without prior warning. India was more open about its intent this time; The prime minister was publicly unequivocal about his resolve to punish the guilty. Operation Sindoor, a result of immaculate planning, was the outcome.

In this civilisational conflict, India now walks the path with countries like the US and Israel, which have a history of hounding and punishing their enemies, irrespective of the cost involved and whichever corner of the world they are holed up in. Few, including Pakistan, could have imagined such a decisive response from India.



PTI

> Jihadist attacks from the one on parliament in 2001 to the bombings in Bodh Gaya in 2013 did not elicit much beyond strong condemnation from India. But over the last decade, the Indian government has shaken off the inertia

The ambivalent Indian attitude towards its civilisational challenges, seen prior to 2014, isn't a recent phenomenon. It has its origins in its naive philanthropy. Steeped in a pluralistic ethos, India failed to comprehend the viciousness of creeds and ideologies that brook no dissent, terming all differing perceptions as blasphemy, usually punishable with death.

In this spirit, Mahatma Gandhi supported the foreign and religious Khilafat movement (1919-1924). However, this gesture was reciprocated with violence: the Moplah massacres (1921), several communal riots, and the brutal Direct Action Day in Kolkata (1946).

Instead of confronting this divisive mindset head-on, even after independence, India didn't learn the necessary strategic lessons. When Pakistan attacked Kashmir shortly after independence, India's leadership committed a historic blunder by halting advancing Indian troops when the Pakistani army was losing and retreating fast.

In 1960, India signed the Indus Waters Treaty with Pakistan, conceding water rights and paying what amounts to ₹700 crore in today's terms in 10 instalments—yet another costly blunder. Pakistan answered by launching another war in 1965. Indian forces marched to Lahore, but again returned the conquered territory at Tashkent. In 1971, India took 93,000 Pakistani soldiers prisoners during the Bangladesh liberation war, and released them unconditionally. Pakistan returned the favour by trying to capture Siachen in 1984.

In February 1999, India extended a hand of friendship, and within months, Pakistan did Kargil. Although India successfully evicted the intruders, it refrained from punishing Pakistan further. The nadir came in 2008 when, despite irrefutable evidence of Pakistani involvement in the 26/11 attacks, the UPA government gave Pakistan a free pass. A section of the ruling dispensation sought to blame the RSS-BJP, concocting the false narrative of 'Hindu terror'—even though terrorists like Ajmal Kasab, David Headley and Tahawwur Rana had been captured alive.

This pattern of obfuscation and denial extended beyond 26/11 to the 1993 Mumbai serial blasts, the 1998 Coimbatore bombing, and the 2013 Gandhi Maidan attacks in Patna. In most instances, inconvenient truths were suppressed, and the terrorists and their sponsors were mostly allowed to go unpunished.

It's changing now. Pakistan, however, fails to comprehend the resolve of this new India. Since 2014, India has undergone a profound strategic transformation and is now committed to waging an unrelenting war against terrorism. Pakistan has two choices: either to radically reform its ideology or engage in a decisive confrontation with India. No prizes for guessing the outcome of such a war.

Courageous restraint

Ref: India repels Pakistan drone blitz (May 9). As a student from Kerala studying in Punjab, I am living through a time of fear and uncertainty. With missiles being launched nearby, the atmosphere is tense. Yet, I remain safe, thanks to the unyielding efforts of our defence forces. I owe them my deepest gratitude and understand that their actions are taken out of necessity rather than choice. My parents, far away, lie awake at night, worried for my safety. We often define bravery as retaliation. But could restraint also be an act of courage? The destruction of war doesn't just damage borders; it affects minds, hearts and futures. Fear doesn't fade when the smoke clears; it lingers in the lives of those who have lived through it.

Amaya Prasad, email

Rogue nation

The Pakistani establishment is desperate to save face following Operation Sindoor. A retaliatory action by the rogue nation was written on the wall, but targeting of Indian civilians debunked its bravado. It is indeed commendable that the cowardly attacks were intercepted by our doughty forces.

Standing together

Indians and the Indian Army have never condoned terrorism and separatism, and will never do. We know how to give a reply to those who promote terrorism, and attack our harmony and integrity. We 140 crore Indians stand vigorously with our army and government in this battle.

Other fights

Ref: China's silence on Pak's use of terror as policy speaks volumes (May 9). China is happy when India is engaged with fighting terrorism. With a robust reply to terrorism, it's important for us to also get ready for a new fight—to bolster our research, education, solidarity, culture and economy. Pakistan has little to lose, but we have a lot.

Pictorial proof

The picture of Pakistan's army officials standing behind a Lashkar-e-Toiba commander leading funeral prayers (front page photo, May 9) suggests the nation is a high-profile terror merchant. What other interest would the military have in an assembly of terrorists? Clearly knowing that India had not attempted any escalation, Pakistan targeted innocent civilians once again. One does not understand why the US secretary of state called for 'immediate de-escalation'.

IMF approves $1bn bailout for Pak despite India's protest

'Mockery of global values': India flags misuse of funds to sponsor cross-border terrorism

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

DESPITE strong reservations expressed by India against the disbursal of a $1 billion loan facility to Pakistan, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) on Friday approved the bailout package, a finance ministry official confirmed.

India abstained from voting on the proposal to disburse the loan, raising concerns about the efficacy of the IMF bailout package in light of Pakistan's poor track record. India also expressed fears that the country could misuse the debt to fund state-sponsored cross-border terrorism.

The IMF reviewed the Extended Fund Facility lending programme ($1 billion) and also considered a fresh Resilience and Sustainability Facility lending programme ($1.3 billion) for Pakistan.

Arguing against another bailout to Pakistan, India contended that its neighbor has been a prolonged borrower from the IMF, with a very poor track record of implementation and adherence to the programme conditions. India pointed out that such track record calls into question either the effectiveness of the IMF programme in case of Pakistan or their monitoring and implementation by Pakistan.

India highlighted Pakistan army's deeply entrenched interference in economic affairs, which poses significant risks of policy slippages and reversal of reforms. It said even with a civilian government is in power, the army continues to exert influence in domestic politics and extends its tentacles deep into the economy. It pointed out that a 2021 UN report described military-linked businesses as the "largest conglomerate in Pakistan".

The Indian delegation reiterated that rewarding continued sponsorship of cross-border terrorism sends a dangerous message to the global community, exposes funding agencies and donors to reputational risks, and makes a mockery of global values.

India also expressed dissapointment over IMF's response to concern over Pakistan's misuse of funds to support terrorism.

WHY INDIA ABSTAINED

- Because IMF rules do not permit a formal 'no' vote
- India conveyed its strong dissent within the constraints of IMF's voting system

India's key objections

- Questioned effectiveness of ongoing IMF assistance, noting Pakistan has received support in 28 of past 35 years
- Highlighted Pak military's dominance in eco affairs
- Opposed providing funds to a country that continues to sponsor cross-border terror

World Bank is a facilitator, won't intervene to resolve Indus treaty row: Banga

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

IN a setback to Pakistan, the World Bank has dismissed as rumours that it will intervene to resolve the matter of India suspending the bilateral Indus Waters Treaty (IWT).

World Bank president Ajay Banga, currently in India on a private visit to attend events in UP, clarified that the bank's role is only that of a facilitator between the two countries.

Responding to a direct question about the bank's intervention, he said: "It's all bunk."

He called on Prime Minister Modi on Thursday, a day after Operation Sindoor against terror camps in Pakistan.

The Press Information Bureau shared Banga's full statement on X: "There's a lot of speculation in the media about how the World Bank will step in and solve the problem, but it's all bunk. The World Bank's role is merely as a facilitator."

India placed the 65-year-old IWT in abeyance on April 24 following the Pahalgam terror attack on April 22.

After the Partition, Pakistan was apprehensive about how to share the river waters in the now-divided Punjab. In 1955, the US worked with the World Bank to facilitate bilateral discussions. They led to an agreement on September 19, 1960.

The World Bank has long boasted that the treaty it facilitated was most successful in surviving three full-scale wars between neighbours. Under the treaty, Pakistan received waters from three western rivers – Jhelum, Chenab, and Indus – while India received absolute control of waters from Satluj, Beas, and Ravi.

THE Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) on Friday issued a new advisory outlining the important 'dos and don'ts' for the countless internet users across the country as the situation between India and Pakistan remains tense following Operation Sindoor.

The advisory, shared on social media platform 'X' underlines the importance of responsible online behaviour and cautions internet users against posts propagating misleading claims and false narratives.

Pak eco ministry's a/c deactivated after trolling

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE official X account of Pakistan Ministry of Economic Affairs was deactivated on Friday following a massive backlash over its post requesting "more loans" from the international community, given the ongoing conflict with India following Operation Sindoor.

Embarrassed by the development, Pakistan claimed the account had been hacked and described the post as "fake news".

The post on the official X handle of the Pakistan ministry also tagged the World Bank social media account. "Govt of Pakistan appeals to International Partners for more loans after heavy losses inflected by enemy. Amid escalating war and stocks crash, we urge international partners to help de-escalate. Nation urged to remain steadfast..." read the post, which was removed subsequently, and the account was deleted.

As the post became viral and drew hilarious responses online, India's Press Information Bureau of India (PIB) took a dig at the authorities in the neighbouring country. It responded with a Bollywood meme comprising a still from a comedy movie, Golmaal, and a popular dialogue – "Ye Koi Tareeka Hai Bheek Mangneka?" (Is this a way to beg?)

Meanwhile, the PIB's Fact Check Unit continued flagging fake news and manufactured stories on social media. The unit debunked a news report by China's English newspaper, China Daily, which claimed that at least three Indian jets had crashed in Kashmir. The Unit clarified that it used an old image from 2019.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

TAHAWWUR RANA, an alleged mastermind in the 26/11 Mumbai terror attack, was taken to the Tihar Jail in the national capital amid heavy security on Friday evening, Tihar sources said.

Earlier in the day, a Delhi court remanded Rana in judicial custody after he was produced before Special Judge Chander Jit Singh, a day before his NIA custody ended.

"Rana was taken to the Tihar Jail after he was remanded in judicial custody. There was heavy security during his arrival and he will be kept in the high-security zone of the prison," a source said.

Rana, a close aide of the main conspirator of the 26/11 attack David Coleman Headley, was brought to India after the US Supreme Court dismissed his review plea against extradition.

MHA writes to states about emergency procurement

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

IN the wake of prevailing tensions between India and Pakistan and threat of hostile acts, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) on Friday shot off a letter to the states and Union Territories (UTs) asking them to invoke emergency powers under the Civil Defence Act and Rules, 1968 for efficient implementation of the necessary precautionary measures.

In the letter, the MHA reminded state and UT administrations about their power and responsibility to undertake all necessary actions for the protection of people and property, and to ensure uninterrupted functioning of vital services during a hostile attack.

Quoting the letter, a senior MHA official said, "Section 11 of the Civil Defense Rules, 1968 empowers state governments to take swift action in emergencies to protect people and property from harm. It also ensures that essential services, including electricity, water supply and transportation, continue to function uninterrupted during such crises."

> Section 11 of the Civil Defence Rules, 1968 empowers States to take swift action in emergencies to protect people and property from harm. It also ensures that essential services... continue to function uninterrupted during such crises —MHA letter

States have also been asked to invoke emergency powers to ensure mandatory procurements of equipment and other essentials under the rule, the official said, adding that they have also been directed to mobilise and use own funds to meet the procurement costs.

In the communication, the MHA has urged, "states and UTs invoke Section 11 and grant emergency procurement powers to their respective Directors of Civil Defence." This is aimed at enabling swift and efficient implementation of precautionary and protective measures.

The call to bolster civil defence measures follows serious military escalations along the India-Pakistan border as Pakistan launched a series of drone and missile attacks along India's western border, targeting regions in J&K, and Rajasthan, on Thursday night.

NO NEED TO WORRY ABOUT FOOD STOCK

JITENDRA CHAUBEY @ New Delhi

THE country has adequate food stocks and essential commodities to face the war-like situation, Minister of Food and Public Distribution Prahlad Joshi confirmed on Friday, asking citizens not to believe false propaganda about any food crisis.

"I want to assure everyone that we currently have stocks many times higher than the normal requirement – whether it is rice, wheat, or pulses such as chana, tur, masoor, or moong. There is absolutely no shortage, and citizens are advised not to panic or rush to the markets to purchase food grains," said Joshi.

Joshi also posted it on the social media platform X, urging people not to heed any rumours claiming a shortage of food grains. "Don't believe in propaganda messages regarding food stocks in the country," he wrote.

"We have ample food stocks, far exceeding required norms. Don't pay heed to such messages. Traders, wholesalers, retailers or business entities that trade Essential Commodities are directed to cooperate with law enforcement agencies. Any person indulging in hoarding or stockpiling shall be prosecuted under relevant sections of the Essential Commodities Act," he warned in his post.

Rein in TV channels, CPI writes to govt

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

THE Communist Party of India (CPI) on Friday sought Centre's intervention to keep a check on media coverage on the evolving situation post Operation Sindoor. CPI general secretary D Raja, in a letter to Information and Broadcasting Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, expressed concern over "inflammatory and misleading" content being aired by several TV news channels in wake of military action following the Pahalgam terror attack.

"We are witnessing a dangerous trend where certain channels are communalising the issue, spreading unverified claims, and promoting war hysteria," Raja wrote.

'Let's not bring morale down,' says SC on women short service officers

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

TAKING a humanitarian approach, the Supreme Court on Friday asked the Centre not to discharge from service the Short Service Commission (SSC) women Army officers, challenging the denial of permanent commission (PC) to them, asking not to "bring their morale down" in "the prevailing situation".

"In the prevailing situation let's not bring their (Short Service Commission women Army officers) morale down. They are brilliant officers, you can use their services somewhere else. This is not the time that they are asked to roam around in the Supreme Court. They have a better place to be and serve the country," said, a two-judge bench of the apex court.

The court, which was hearing a batch of pleas filed by 69 officers challenging the denial of PC , fixed the matter for further hearing to August.

During the course of the hearing, Additional Solicitor General Aishwarya Bhati defended the Union's decision to deny PC to these women officers. Requesting the court not to stay their release, she clarified that only 250 personnel are granted PC annually. She also submitted that it was an administrative measure based on policy designed to maintain youthful profile within the forces.

Senior advocate Menaka Guruswamy, representing Colonel Geeta Sharma, highlighted the case of Colonel Sofia Qureshi, who has recently briefed the media following Operation Sindoor conducted on May 7-8. Guruswamy submitted that Qureshi had also approached the court seeking PC. "Recently, she has since brought honour the country," she added.

The apex court had, on February 17, 2020, held that blanket exclusion of women from all but staff appointments in the Army was indefensible. "Denying women SSC officers consideration for command roles without justification could not be upheld under the law," the apex court had said.

Infiltration bid foiled, 7 terrorists eliminated in J&K

BSF destroys Pak Rangers' post providing fire cover to ultras suspected to be from JeM

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Border Security Force (BSF) on Friday said it had foiled an infiltration bid from across the India-Pakistan International Border in a midnight operation in the Samba sector of Jammu, neutralising seven infiltrators and destroying a forward post of Pakistan Rangers.

In a statement, the BSF said, "Seven infiltrators, suspected to be from the banned terror group Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM), were killed last night, as they were trying to enter India through the Samba sector in Jammu."

During the operation, the BSF also inflicted extensive damage on a Pakistan Rangers border outpost, from where heavy gunfire was supporting the infiltrators, it added.

As part of Operation Sindoor, the Indian armed forces conducted strikes on JeM training grounds and hideouts in Pakistan. The coordinated and measured strikes were in response to the terrorist attack in Pahalgam that killed 25 tourists and one local pony guide.

A BSF official said that the infiltrators were engaged around 11 pm on Thursday in the Samba district, after their "surveillance grid" detected a "big group" of terrorists moving in. The Pakistan Rangers from post Dhandhar gave them covering fire. He said there could have been more terrorists than were neutralised.

The BSF also shared a thermal imager clip of the firing and "destruction" of the bunker of the post where the Rangers had mounted a heavy machine gun.

The BSF is on high alert in the wake of the prevailing war-like situation between India and Pakistan following Operation Sindoor.

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

AFTER a high-level security meeting chaired by Union Home Minister Amit Shah, the government decided to move additional CRPF personnel to Jammu and Kashmir for strategic security adjustment amid rising the escalating India-Pakistan tensions, officials said on Friday.

In the meeting, held after the BSF claimed that it had foiled an infiltration bid along the international border in Jammu, the Home Minister reviewed the situation along frontiers with Pakistan, they said.

Shah also took stock of the steps taken to beef up security at airports across the country and the deployment status in J&K, the sources said.

Deployment of additional companies of CRPF in J&K was discussed and soon more paramilitary forces would be seen assisting the Union Territory police in maintaining law and order across key areas, the sources said.

They said that in addition to the new deployments, adjustments of existing security forces may take place, potentially requiring more troops, who will guard nakas and districts and will be involved in checking, frisking and other key security duties, including handling any potential attack.

Subsequently, the CRPF's top brass directed its field formations to move more than two dozen of its companies, comprising about 2,400 personnel, to J&K for "bolstering" security of the border areas along with the BSF and the Army and also perform law & order duties with J&K Police, the sources said.

In view of all these the CRPF has deferred all transfer and posting orders and also postponed training courses for its personnel. A source at the CRPF headquarters said that an order has been issued asking officers and personnel to be present in their place of posting in view of the emerging security situation along western and northern fronts.

3 Army bases, Jammu airport attacked

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ENDING any hope of immediate de-escalation, Pakistan on Friday evening pushed the situation to an escalatory spiral by launching a second wave of drone attacks in Jammu and Kashmir and unsuccessfully targeting three army bases in Srinagar and Awantipora in Valley and Jammu airport.

At around 9 pm, Pakistan army launched drone attacks in Jammu and Nagrota in the Jammu region with the target being Jammu airport, which also houses Indian Air Force station. The drones were intercepted and neutralised by the air defence systems, a security official said.

The red streaks were seen and several loud explosions heard in the Jammu city and its adjoining areas as the air defence systems were in action to intercept and neutralise the kamikaze drones. It was the second night of drone attacks launched by Pakistan in Jammu region in as many days.

Sirens were sounded and there was a complete blackout in Jammu in the evening and authorities had also snapped electricity to the major parts of the region to enforce the blackout.

In the day, the police had made announcements through public address system fitted vehicles asking shopkeepers to close their shops before evening and urging people to stay indoors and close the lights.

As after the drone attack in Jammu region was neutralised by the air defence system, the two highly secured army bases in Srinagar (Srinagar airport) and Awantipora airport in south Kashmir's Pulwama district came under the drone attack from Pakistan.

Multiple explosions were heard near Srinagar airport as the air defence systems intercepted and engaged the drones. The air defence systems were also activated in Awantipora to foil the drone attack on the army base. Multiple explosions were heard by residents of the area. The air sirens were sounded to alert the local residents to stay alert and stay indoors. There was a complete blackout in Srinagar and other parts of the Valley from the evening. The administration ensured that the black-out was enforced by snapping the electricity to Srinagar and other parts of the Valley in the evening.

Omar meets affected families at camps

Jammu & Kashmir Chief Minister Omar Abdullah visited camps in Jammu and Samba districts, where the border residents displaced by Pakistani shelling are putting up. He visited Government Medical College in Jammu to meet those injured in the shelling. "Our security mechanisms responded with commendable speed and precision. If our people are harmed, the nation reserves the right to defend itself," the Chief Minister said.

Three of family hurt as debris of Pak drone lands in Punjab village

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

PAKISTAN drones were sighted and neutralised in Punjab's Pathankot, Ferozepur, Tarn Taran, Fazilka and Hoshiarpur districts on Friday, even as a drone fell on a house, injuring three members of a family in a village in Ferozepur.

Blackout was in force in these border districts. Sources said drones were also sighted in Jammu and Samba regions of Jammu and Kashmir and neutralised.

The Ferozepur injured were identified as Lakhwinder Singh and Monu Singh, sons of Bagicha Singh and Sukhwinder Kaur, wife of Lakhwinder. They were admitted to a private hospital with burn injuries. Lakhwinder is critical. A CNG-fuelled car parked outside the house exploded when the drone fell, and the house caught fire.

The village is close to the army cantonment, and the drone was perhaps aimed at the army installation in the cantonment, but landed in the village.

Earlier, the Pakistan Army launched a series of swarm drones on this border town on Friday evening. Several red-coloured flying objects (swarm drones) could be seen coming in groups.

Sources said most of them were neutralised but the drone attacks were continuing till the time of reporting. Some of them carried explosives while others were meant for surveillance.

Army personnel have taken over the security of important bridges and other strategic installations in Ferozepur city. Authorities enforced a blackout from 8 p.m. in the six border districts after siren alerts and switched off the power supply, which will resume early Saturday morning.

The Airports Authority has extended the suspension of flights at Sri Guru Ramdas International Airport, Amritsar. In a statement, it said, "It is intimated to all concerned that suspension of all commercial/civil domestic and international flight operations from Amritsar Airport is further extended till 05.30 hrs on 15.05.2025". The extension applies to Chandigarh airport, too. Bilaspur district administration in Himachal Pradesh also issued a blackout advisory while educational institutions remained shut in Una. In the UT of Chandigarh, authorities asked shops selling non-essential items, hotels, and restaurants to close their shutters from 7 p.m. on Friday.

House catches fire

Those injured after the drone fell were admitted to a private hospital with burn injuries. Lakhwinder is critical. A CNG-fuelled car parked outside their house exploded when it fell, and the house caught fire. A blackout was in force in the border districts at the time of the incident.

Live bomb recovered in Jaisalmer, blackouts in Raj border districts

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A live bomb, recovered in Kishanghat village in Jaisalmer district near the India-Pakistan border on Friday morning, triggered panic among residents amid rising tensions along Rajasthan's western frontier.

The Army immediately sealed the area and launched bomb disposal operations, while security forces kept civilians at a distance. The recovery comes when residents across border districts like Jaisalmer, Barmer, Bikaner and Sriganganagar have reported increased military movement and low-flying aircraft, fuelling fears of escalation.

The Jaisalmer District Collector issued security guidelines in response to the evolving situation. The administration banned drone operations from May 8 to July 7, asking drone owners to deposit their equipment at local police stations by May 9. The sale, purchase, and use of firecrackers have been prohibited.

A strict blackout will be enforced daily from 9pm to 6am, during which lights must remain switched off and windows covered. The orders restrict vehicular movement after 6pm and prevent entry within a 5-km radius of defence installations.

The Ramgarh-Tanot road will remain closed for traffic after 3pm, and markets must shut by 5pm. Residents have been advised not to leave their homes after 7pm. Additional deployments of Army and police personnel have been made.

Despite the growing anxiety, Indian defence systems successfully neutralised several incoming threats in the intervening night of Thursday and Friday. Reports confirmed that multiple aerial bombs from across the border were intercepted and defused mid-air, preventing casualties and significant damage.

The Rajasthan government has transferred nine SDOs to previously vacant administrative subdivisions along the border to strengthen ground-level coordination further.

The railways cancelled trains between Barmer and Munabao and Bhagat Ki Kothi and Munabao. They cancelled the Jaipur-Jaisalmer service on Thursday and restricted the Jaisalmer-Jaipur service between Jaipur and Bikaner on Friday.

Train services disrupted

Due to the drone attacks, the railways cancelled trains running between Barmer and Munabao and Bhagat Ki Kothi and Munabao. They also cancelled the Jaipur-Jaisalmer service on Thursday and restricted the Jaisalmer-Jaipur service on Friday between Jaipur and Bikaner.

Gujarat on alert, emergency services ramped up

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

A high alert was sounded in Gujarat as tensions escalated between India and Pakistan, prompting an emergency response from state authorities.

Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel on Friday convened a high-level review meeting with senior secretaries, district administrators, and police chiefs in Gandhinagar, and formulated an aggressive security strategy in response to the volatile situation. Soon after the meeting, security grids were fortified across the state's border villages, while Bhuj Airport was swiftly transferred to the Army to tighten defence readiness.

To take stock of the security, Prime Minister Narendra Modi called up CM Patel and sought a detailed briefing on the state's preparedness, indicating the Centre's close watch on the evolving situation.

Speaking to the media after the meeting, the Minister of State for Home Affairs of Gujarat said, "In this tense situation, the CM reviewed the preparedness with all government departments to ensure there is no shortage in the support required by the forces."

Additionally, the state government clamped down on health sector mobility, cancelling all leaves for doctors, paramedics, and health workers, except in cases of severe illness.

The health department has received strict directives to stockpile critical medicines, deploy rapid-response medical teams, and ensure continuous power backup through generator installations, reinforcing the state's preparedness for any fallout from the spiralling crisis.

CM Patel posted on X, "In view of the prevailing situation, all types of leave for officers and employees of all departments and offices of the state government, as well as Boards, Corporations, Panchayats, Municipal Corporations, and autonomous and grant-in-aid institutions, have been cancelled with immediate effect." Late on Wednesday night, DGP Vikas Sahay ordered blanket cancellation of all police leaves across cities and districts, citing an "unforeseen situation" demanding full-force readiness.

Indo-Pak tension: Businesses brace for tough times ahead

Sectors such as automobiles, travel & tourism, retail and real estate fear severe repercussions if hostilities between the two countries intensify further

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

ESCALATION in tensions between India and Pakistan over the past three days has begun to hamper businesses in border regions. Industry executives and experts interviewed by TNIE reported a fall in customer inquiries and footfall, as consumers prioritise spending on essential goods. Sectors ranging from automobiles, travel & tourism, and retail to real estate fear severe repercussions if hostilities between the two countries intensify further.

"If the current conflict broadens, residential absorption in Delhi-NCR and other parts of north India may see a short-term dip of between 5–10%. Luxury housing buyers tend to delay purchases in periods of uncertainty. Demand for mid-income housing will be the first to recover once normalcy is restored," said Prashant Thakur, regional director & head – research, ANAROCK Group.

A realty developer who has a strong presence in Punjab said enquiry level for their listed properties has come down to 70-80% in the past three days as there is a fear among consumers that the two countries may go to war. "In case of war, we will have difficulty in completing projects as this would result in shortage of labourers and make raw materials dearer," he said, requesting anonymity.

Tensions have peaked in the region after Pakistan's missile strikes targeting several Indian cities. The missiles were intercepted by Indian air defence units, but the escalation triggered blackouts in border towns and heightened fears of a full-scale war.

Tours & travel sector, which took a hit from attack in Pahalgam last month and subsequent closure of Pakistan airspace, is expecting additional hurdles in the near future. Operations remain suspended till May 15 at many airports, including major hubs like Leh, Chandigarh, Amritsar, and Jodhpur. This has resulted in cancellation of about 430 flights alone on Friday.

Rikant Pittie, CEO and co-founder, EaseMyTrip, said traveller sentiment remains cautious, with concerns around safety and uncertainty. "Several airlines have cut or suspended operations, leading to a rise in cancellations and rescheduling across travel services," adeed Pittie. Karan Agarwal, director at Cox & Kings, said they have paused all new travel offerings to Azerbaijan, Uzbekistan, and Turkey. "We advise Indian travellers to avoid any non-essential travel to these destinations until there is greater clarity and alignment in broader geopolitical environment," added Agarwal.

An aviation industry executive said the four leading airlines are losing millions of dollars daily due to cancellations and closure of Pakistan airspace. "We are hopeful that the government will acknowledge the losses and provide support when situation eases," added the executive. Air India recently told the government that it is expecting $600 million in additional costs if Pakistan airspace ban lasts for a year.

Auto companies are seeing a fall in footfall at showrooms across northern region. "Sales in Jammu & Kashmir have been dismal since the Pahalgam attack, and the last three days have seen minimal deliveries in several cities across Punjab and Rajasthan. Until situation de-escalates, we expect consumers to hold back on big-ticket purchases," said a sales and marketing head of a car company.

The trend extends beyond automobiles. A CEO of a pan-India retail company said demand for peak summer products like air conditioners and refrigerators has dipped in many northern cities. "During such times, consumers prioritise essentials and cut back on non-essential spending," the CEO said requesting anonymity. A spokesperson from a large FMCG firm said they have not faced major supply chain issues as of now, and that they are 'good to go' till about a week.

Ajay Sahai, director general & CEO, Federation of Indian Export Organisation (FIEO), said there has been no major disruption in shipment of goods from India except that air freight has increased by 5% due to an elongated air route.

ATMs, digital services working

NEW DELHI: As rumours of ATM closures spread like wildfire a day before, banks on Friday assured the public that all ATMs and cash deposit machines are fully operational. Banks reiterated that the rumors circulating about ATM closures are false and unfounded. "We encourage our customers to continue using ATM services as usual and to rely only on verified communication channels for updates," said a IOB statement.

IT employees get WFH

BENGALURU Due to the ongoing conflict between India and Pakistan, many global tech services, including IT services firms have provided work from home (WFH) option to employees. Though no IT company on record commented on the advisory sent to employees, sources in the know said, "In situation like this, employees can WFH, especially those in Delhi, Gurugram, Noida and other northern regions."

FM asks banks to ensure firewalling of digital infra

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday directed banks to conduct regular audits of their cybersecurity systems and data centres and ensure that all digital and core banking infrastructure is firewalled and monitored round the clock to prevent breaches or hostile cyber activity.

At the meeting with the FM, bank MDs and CEOs told that anti-DDoS (Distributed Denial-of-Service) systems have been implemented by banks to protect against massive cyberattacks. Given heightened ongoing tensions between India and Pakistan, cybersecurity experts say cyberattacks can be used to disrupt infrastructure and various organisations should adopt a proactive and layered approach to security.

Neehar Pathare, MD, CEO and CIO, 63SATS Cybertech, said while traditional warfare has long been defined by physical confrontations, modern conflict is increasingly being waged in digital domain.

"We're seeing a dangerous escalation — where hacktivist groups and state-aligned actors routinely target military systems, government agencies, and critical services," Pathare said.

Recently, a Pakistani group calling itself 'IOK Hacker' launched a cyber offensive against the Indian Army, disrupting platforms like Army Public School Srinagar's website through DDoS attacks, and attempting to breach the Army Welfare Housing Organisation and the Indian Air Force placement portal," he said, adding these attacks are only going to rise, he added.

Cybersecurity and cloud computing company Akamai said it is monitoring the rise in cyber activity affecting organisations across India, including DDoS attempts and the use of malicious files in targeted campaigns.

"Measures like always-on DDoS protection, zero trust architecture, and advanced file inspection are no longer optional — they are foundational. In times of geopolitical uncertainty, a strong and resilient cybersecurity posture is critical to safeguarding digital assets and maintaining operational continuity," Mitesh Jain, Regional VP of Akamai said.

Domestic equity market faced heavy selling pressure on Friday as geopolitical tensions between India and Pakistan flared up sharply. Benchmark indices — the BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty — plunged over 1% each, reflecting investor jitters.

The 30-share BSE Sensex pack slumped 880 points or 1.10% to close at 79,454 while the NSE barometer Nifty fell 266 points or 1.10% to settle at 24,008. The broader market showed some resistance as the BSE Mid-cap index ended flat, while the BSE small-cap index was down 0.3%

"Domestic factors continued to weigh on Indian markets even as global indices stayed firm, as rising tension due to Indo-Pak conflict prompted investors to flee local equities. Traders don't want to get caught off guard by risking their investments as any escalation in war during the weekends could trigger major selling starting next week," said Prashanth Tapse, senior VP (research), Mehta Equities.

With tensions at the border remaining volatile, market sentiment is likely to stay fragile in the coming sessions. Amit Jain, co-founder of Ashika Global Family Office Services, said tensions between India and Pakistan appear to be intensifying, and this could act as a sentiment dampener for short-term investors.

Jain, however, anticipated that the dust of war should settled down by the end of next week and once the situation stabilizes, Indian markets are expected to align with global market trends, especially as the corporate earnings season nears its conclusion.

The fresh setback for the Indian market comes right after it recovered from the sharp selling caused by US President Donald Trump's reciprocal tariffs. As the benchmarks fell up to 2% this week, the local market gave up some of its recent gains as geopolitical tensions flared in the region following Pakistan's failed missile strikes and India's counterstrikes.

Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Investments, believes that India–Pakistan tensions has not dampened the domestic market sentiment and investor confidence remain buoyed by sustained foreign institutional inflows and record GST collections in April.

SIP inflows at high of ₹27k cr in April; AUM near ₹70 tn

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AFTER four months of continuous declines, systemic investment plans (SIPs) have witnessed positive inflows, with net inflows jumping to a record ₹26,632 crore in April.

Since February, the inflows into this asset class have been tapering off. The month also saw total assets under management (AUM) of the industry crossing the ₹70 trillion mark.

In March, SIP inflows declined to ₹25,926 crore from ₹26,400 crore in February, while in January the inflows into this asset class totaled ₹26,421 crore, slightly lower than December's ₹26,459 crore. However, for the reporting month, net inflows into equity mutual funds declined month-on-month to ₹24,269.26 crore, Amfi said on Friday. The decline was in spite the fact that large-cap funds received 7.8% more inflows to ₹2,671.46 crore in the month.

In April, investor sentiment appeared to shift within the equity fund space, with inflows into mid-cap and small-cap funds declining. As per the Amfi data, net inflows into mid-cap funds fell 3.6% to ₹3,313.98 crore and small-cap funds declined 2.3% to ₹3,999.95 crore. On the other hand, inflows into flexi-cap funds dropped marginally to ₹5,541 crore from ₹5,615 crore but sectoral funds saw inflows dropping from ₹8,920 crore in March to ₹2,000 crore.

Govt to allocate satellite spectrum for five years; to charge AGR at 4%

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government will administratively allocate spectrum to satellite communication providers such as Starlink, Eutelsat Oneweb, and Jio Satellite Communications for five years, which can be extended for another two years.

As per the recommendation made by the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) on Friday, the companies will be charged 4% adjusted gross revenue (AGR) for both non-geostationary satellite orbit (NGSO) and geostationary satellite orbit (GSO) based fixed-satellite service (FSS) and mobile satellite service (MSS). The TRAI released recommendations on terms and conditions to the Department of Telecommunication (DoT).

"Satcom services, once available, can play a vital role in taking connectivity to underserved areas where telecom networks are not available. They also play a critical role in disasters, in rescue and relief operations," said TRAI Chairman Anil Kumar Lahoti. Lahoti said satcom services are complementary to terrestrial networks. There is no ground for competition between the players. "There is no comparison on competition; these are complementary services," added Lahoti.

Currently, India has two players: Bharti-backed Eutelsat Oneweb and Jio Satellite Communication, which have been granted a Global Mobile Personal Communication by Satellite (GMPCS) licence to operate in India. The DoT issued a letter of intent to Elon Musk-led Starlink on Tuesday, and now the company needs to submit required documents within 21 days, including the licence fee and approval from the Indian National Space Promotion and Authorization Centre (IN-SPACe). The TRAI has proposed that both GSO and NGSO-based FSS operators will be required to pay 4% AGR, with a minimum annual charge of ₹3,500 per MHz spectrum. Operators offering services in urban areas would have to shell out ₹500 per subscriber annually.

TRAI said spectrum to be assigned in Ku, Ka, and Q/V bands, with IMT bands (e.g., 42.5–43.5 GHz) only allowed in remote/uninhabited areas.

Japan's SMBC buys 20% in Yes Bank for ₹13.5k cr; SBI, other banks see 115% gains

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

AFTER a year-long effort, State Bank and other lenders have inked a deal with Japanese financial powerhouse Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corp (SMBC) for a 20% stake in Yes Bank. SMBC purchased a secondary stake of 13.19% from SBI and 6.81% from other equity partner banks for ₹13,483 crore or ₹21.5 per share.

SBI, which owns 23.97% in the bank, will sell part of its stake for ₹8,889 crore, while the other banks - Axis Bank, Bandhan Bank, Federal Bank, HDFC Bank, ICICI Bank, IDFC First Bank and Kotak Mahindra Bank - together will sell 6.81% stake for ₹4,594 crore, Yes Bank said in an exchange filing on Friday.

Two private equity investors - Advent International, which owns 9.20% and Carlyle with 6.82% stake - are not participating in the deal. With sale price of ₹21.5 a share, SBI will earn 115% on its investment and so will be other lenders including HDFC Bank (2.75%, down from 10%), ICICI Bank (2.39%, down from 10%), Kotak Bank (1.21%) and Axis Bank (1.01%). That apart, LIC owns 3.98%.

In the RBI managed rescue deal in March 2020, SBI had picked up 49% in the bank for ₹10 a share, and had pared its stake to 30% in the follow-on-offer in July 2020 and further to 23.97% when Advent and Carlyle entered the bank in March 2023. Yes Bank shares closed 10% higher at ₹20.05, their highest level since February 5. Since the bailout, the stock had peaked ₹27.41 in July 2024. SMBC, a part of the Sumitomo Mitsui Financial Group (SMFG), is the second-largest bank in Japan with $1.72 trillion in assets held across its operations in 39 countries, nearly half of them in Asia-Pacific region.

Morningstar DBRS upgrades India's credit ratings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

GLOBAL rating agency Morningstar DBRS on Friday upgraded India's sovereign rating to 'BBB', with a stable trend.

The agency cited structural reforms through infrastructure investments, and digitisation made by the country, besides macro economic stability. The credit rating balances India's public finance challenges with the economy's high growth potential, DBRS Inc said. It also upgraded India's long-term foreign and local currency issuer ratings to BBB from BBB (low).

"The upgrade reflects DBRS's view that the cumulative and ongoing benefits of India's structural reform efforts are facilitating fiscal consolidation and helping sustain India's high growth rate. The upgrade also reflects a more resilient banking system."The agency said though heightened external risks due the imposition of US tariffs could impact growth in the coming quarters, the Indian economy is not reliant on trade. Favourable demographics, high savings, and potential catch-up in technological capabilities suggest India's medium-term growth prospects remain strong. Government efforts to improve investment climate and build both physical and digital infrastructure reinforce medium-term growth prospects, it said.

Jaiswal now wants to play for Mumbai

India opener Yashasvi Jaiswal has requested the Mumbai Cricket Association (MCA) to allow him to remain with the domestic giants, a month after asking for a No Objection Certificate (NOC) to switch to Goa. In April, Jaiswal surprised everyone by writing to the MCA to seek its approval for a shock move to Goa. On its part, the MCA too had swiftly approved Jaiswal's request.

IPL suspension: Cause & effect

BCCI halts event for a week, call on resumption to be taken based on the situation at a later time

GOMESH S @Chennai

Punjab Kings players and support staff arrive in New Delhi on Friday. Even Delhi team took the same train | PTI

AROUND noon on Friday the word started spreading that the 2025 Indian Premier League was set to come to a halt, at least temporarily. The top brass of the BCCI met and discussed with stakeholders to take a call on the remaining games of the season. The franchises were informed as well.

While there was little clarity on how long the tournament was going to be suspended, a couple of hours later, the board made the official announcement that the tournament will hit the pause button for one week. This decision and the announcement came due to escalation of cross-border conflict between India and Pakistan. On Thursday night, the IPL match between Punjab Kings and Delhi Capitals in Dharamsala was called-off midway as a precautionary measure.

"The decision was taken by the IPL Governing Council after due consultation with all key stakeholders following the representations from most of the franchisees, who conveyed the concern and sentiments of their players, and also the views of the broadcaster, sponsors and fans; while the BCCI reposes full faith in the strength and preparedness of our armed forces, the Board considered it prudent to act in the collective interest of all stakeholders," BCCI secretary Devajit Saikia said in a statement.

Players, support staff disperse

From the time several airports were shut as a precautionary measure, there was a sense of unease among franchises and players, especially those from overseas. Even before the Dharamsala match was called off, Cricket West Indies release a statement that they are in touch with the BCCI and the players from the region to ensure their safety. Same is the case for Cricket Australia and Australia Cricketers' Association who have been in contact with the players from Down Under. Once it became official, the players, both Indian and overseas, have started to disperse and leave for their homes. Punjab and Delhi teams, the broadcasting crew and others from Dharamsala, were brought to New Delhi through a special train from Jalandhar on Friday.

As things stand, the league is suspended for a week, which is perhaps the maximum amount of time they can afford to finish the remaining games in the current window before the World Test Championship final on June 11. With 12 league games and four play-off games left, the BCCI would have just enough time to finish the league. However, it needs to be seen if they host the matches in select venues. There is a possibility that Southern and Eastern part of the country could be preferred to ensure safety and reduce travel time. Even then, they will have to schedule multiple double-headers to ensure all matches are complete.

However, nothing is certain as of now. It all depends on the government directive and how the situation between India and Pakistan develops in the coming days. That being said, even if things get to normal quickly, it needs to be seen if the players, support staff, especially those from foreign countries, will be able return on time.

Aug-Sept possible window?

If the tournament does not resume in a week's time, it could have an impact on India's cricketing calendar for the season. They are set to travel to England for five Tests starting from June 20 till August 4, 2025. After that, India men are scheduled to travel to Bangladesh for a white-ball series before the men's T20 Asia Cup. Should the IPL not begin in a week's time, that could be the potential window where it can resume. There is a chance that India might postpone the tour of Bangladesh and also a possibility of the Asia Cup getting cancelled because of the prevailing tension between the India and Pakistan. The Asian Cricket Council at the moment is headed by Mohsin Naqvi, who is the head of Pakistan Cricket Board and Minister for Interior of Pakistan. The only major event that is clashing with the Asia Cup window is South Africa's white-ball tour of England.

For now, however, the BCCI are not looking too far ahead. They are closely monitoring the situation and call on the remainder of the tournament will be taken at an appropriate time.

RACHIN, CONWAY HEAD HOME

Chennai Super Kings was supposed to play Rajasthan Royals on May 12 at Chepauk. With the tournament getting suspended for a week, CSK players from India have already left to their respective home towns. The likes of Rachin Ravindra, Devon Conway will be heading back to New Zealand on Friday night. Support staff members like Stephen Fleming, Mike Hussey too are scheduled to fly back on Friday night. A CSK official said that all the players, both India and foreign, were consulted and the first available flight to their respective destinations was booked. The same official said that the players will assemble at Chennai again when the situation gets better and the IPL governing council gets the green signal to resume the league.

BOMB THREAT AT ARUN JAITLEY STADIUM

A bomb threat mail was received for the Arun Jaitley Stadium in central Delhi on Friday morning, which later turned out to be hoax, an official said. "A mail was received today morning regarding a bomb threat. We duly forwarded the mail to Delhi police and the bomb squad came a did a security check. Nothing suspicious was found. We are carrying out further enquiry in the matter," DDCA secretary Ashok Sharma told this daily.

INDIA-PAKISTAN MATCHES UNDER SPOTLIGHT

AFTER the terror strike in Pahalgam last month and the subsequent Operation Sindoor launched by India against Pakistan, the spotlight, from an international cricket perspective, is now on the scheduled matches between India and Pakistan. What happens to those? Will the International Cricket Council (ICC) and the Asian Cricket Council (ACC) have them in separate groups? An explainer...

● How do we know both of those teams are scheduled to face each other even before the draw?

The 'draw' is doing a lot of the heavy lifting here. There has sort of been an unwritten rule that both India and Pakistan will face each other in the group stages of ICC and ACC events. Going by that, they are scheduled to meet at least four times before next April. Three times in men's events and one in a women's meet.

● Where are these games scheduled?

All of the four games, at least on paper, are slated to be held in India. Two in the Asia Cup, one in the women's World Cup and one in the men's T20 World Cup. But an agreement between the two nations mean that all four games will be held in a neutral venue, either in Sri Lanka or the UAE.

● Is there any threat for those games?

Officially, yes. But unofficially, a lot of the murmurs. There was some sort of reportage that the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) had written to the ICC about asking the world body to keep the two teams in separate groups. One ICC insider has told this daily that there has been no sort of communication to the ICC. India coach, Gautam Gambhir, in his personal capacity, has said India shouldn't play Pakistan.

● Why do ICC insist on pairing these two nations?

This is where the cricket body differs from say, FIFA. The latter goes out of its way to ensure warring nations don't face each other in the group stages. But the ICC do the opposite. One of the reasons why they do this is the money on the table from a single India v. Pakistan match. These two nations have faced other in 11 back-to-back men's global events. With cricket having a lot of TV audience from this part of the world, it's understandable that this one match generates a lot of revenue in terms of TV rights deal. Even if ICC sells rights deal for the entire package and not on a per match basis, broadcasters pay top dollar because of the guarantee of a single game inside that package. The ICC could lose out on a lot of revenue if that assumed guarantee is removed.

● Is there anyway of knowing the finances of a single India v. Pakistan game?

It's very hard to put a number. For what it's worth, it has been communicated to this daily that the ICC have not even privately put a number for this game over the course of a rights circle. But one insider broke it down like this. "Hypothetically speaking, let's assume every men's ICC event is worth 100 crore. That one guaranteed game could be worth 7.5-10 cr. You remove that 7.5-10 cr from every tournament and all teams will be financially hit."

● Which teams will bear the brunt?

It will affect all teams on a pro rata basis but the acual effect will be felt inequally. For example, the loss of that proportionate revenue will not affect BCCI, Cricket Australia and the England and Wales Cricket Board. However, almost all other full members as well as associates depend on ICC funding.

4 Before next April, there are at least four slated games between India and Pakistan.

2 men's Asia Cup

1 men's T20 World Cup

11 There has at least been one India v. Pakistan game in each of the last 11 men's ICC events

Let's assume every men's ICC event is worth 100 cr. That one guaranteed game could be worth 7.5-10 cr. You remove that from every tournament & all teams will be financially hit. -ICC insider

NR for middle-distance runner Afsal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

ASIAN Games silver-medallist middle-distance runner Mohammed Afsal set a new national record in the men's 800 metre final in the UAE Grand Prix at the Dubai Police Stadium on Friday. With a timing of 1.45.61s, 29-year-old Afsal has now broken the previous record of 1.45.65s set by Jinson Johnson in 2018 at the National Inter-State Championships in Guwahati. He, however, could not better the automatic qualification time of 1:44.50s set for the 2025 World Championships later this year. He finished second behind Kenyan Nicholas Kiplagat, who finished in 1:45.38s, a new meet record.

National record holder Animesh Kujur finished first in the 200m dash clocking 20.45s. In the men's 4x100m relay, the team of Manikanta Hoblidhar, Gurinderveer Singh, Borgohain and Kujur, breezed past their relay counterparts. In the end, Borgohain created a huge gap in the final leg before touching the tape. The team clocked 38.76s, almost a tenth of a second slower than their national record set last month in the Indian Open relay competition. Oman finished second, and a second later at 39.27s.

Earlier, quarter-miler Mohammed Sinan set his personal best of 46.67s, finishing behind Suleiman Abdulrahman representing Dubai Police (UAE), who finished in 45.66s.

Comeback man Alcaraz eases past qualifier Lajovic

AGENCIES @Rome

CARLOS Alcaraz kicked off his bid for a first Italian Open title by cruising past Serbian qualifier Dusan Lajovic 6-3, 6-3 in Rome on Friday on his return to action from a thigh injury. World No 3 Alcaraz got past Lajovic in one hour and 23 minutes in his first match since suffering the injury in his Barcelona Open final defeat to Holger Rune last month. The Spaniard showed some signs of ring rustiness with 22 unforced errors but still managed to win the first four games of the match to give Lajovic too much to do in the first set.

Alcaraz will now face one of Alex Michelsen and Laslo Djere in the third round as he eyes a potential final with Jannik Sinner in the Italian capital. Sinner will make his comeback from a three-month doping ban on Saturday.

The Gunners, who were knocked out of the Champions League in the mid-week, are expected to finish in the top-five but they are yet to secure the second spot. The fact that they have some tough fixtures, starting with a clash with newly-crowned champions Liverpool at Anfield on Sunday, makes it a fascinating watch.

Amorim admits United 'problems' despite reaching Europa final

AGENCIES @Manchester

Manchester United players celebrate their goal against Athletic Club Bilbao | AFP

RUBEN Amorim admits Manchester United have "so many problems" and deserve criticism despite storming into the Europa League final with a 7-1 aggregate victory over Athletic Bilbao. United went into Thursday's second leg of their semifinal at Old Trafford 3-0 ahead after the first leg in Spain but conceded first and looked nervy and chaotic at times.

A triple substitution just after the hour mark changed the game, with one of those brought on, Mason Mount, scoring twice as United roared back to win 4-1, setting up a final clash against Tottenham in Bilbao. But United manager Amorim was not fooled by the scoreline as he contemplated the wreckage of United's Premier League campaign ahead of Sunday's home match against fellow strugglers West Ham. "The weakness, you can see it again," he said. "We have so many problems. Even winning these kind of games (against Athletic), you can see during the game, we have a lot of things to improve."

RESULTS: (Semifinal, second legs) Bodo/Glimt 0-2 Tottenham. Tottenham win 5-1 on aggregate; Manchester United 4-1 Athletic Bilbao. Manchester United win 7-1 on aggregate.

Final to be played May 21 in Bilbao

Postecoglou slams critics

BODO (NORWAY): Ange Postecoglou accused his critics of trying to "tear down" Tottenham's run to the final as a 2-0 win at Bodo/Glimt kept alive the under-fire Australian's bid to end their 17-year trophy drought. Postecoglou's side secured a 5-1 aggregate victory in the semifinal second leg in Norway on Thursday. United boss Amorim has said winning the Europa League won't save their season from being a failure.

Trump plans to cut tariffs on China to 80%, ease tensions

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump on Friday floated cutting tariffs on China from 145% to 80% ahead of a weekend meeting among top US and Chinese trade officials as he looks to deescalate the trade war between the world's two largest economies. Top US officials are set to meet with a high-level Chinese delegation in Switzerland in the first major talks between the nations since Trump sparked a trade war with stiff tariffs on imports.

"80% tariff on China seems right! Up to Scott B," Trump wrote on his social media account on Friday morning, referring to Scott Bessent, his Treasury chief, who has been a point person on trade. The Republican president also called on China to open its markets to the US, writing: "Would be so good for them!!! Closed markets don't work anymore!!!"

Bessent and US Trade Representative Jamieson Greer will meet Chinese Vice Premier He Lifeng in Geneva in the most-senior known conversations between the two countries in months, according to announcements this week by the Trump administration and the Chinese commerce ministry. It comes amid growing US market worry over the impact of the tariffs on the prices and supply of consumer goods. No country has been hit harder by Trump's trade war than China, the world's biggest exporter and second largest economy. When Trump announced his "Liberation Day" tariffs on April 2, China retaliated with tariffs of its own, a move that Trump viewed as demonstrating a lack of respect.

The tariffs on each other's goods have been mounting since then, with the US tariffs against China now at 145% and China tariffs on the US at 125%. The US tariff includes a 20% rate tied to Trump's claim that China hasn't curbed fentanyl chemical exports, a topic unlikely to come up in this weekend's talks.

While an 80% tariff level on Chinese goods would represent a significant reduction from the current 145%, it would still be an extremely high import duty that could create supply chain problems and push up prices. And even with the reduction, the tariff rate would still be higher than the combined 74% rate on China that Trump announced at his April 2 "Liberation Day" event.

For China, experts say Beijing would insist that any agreement from the US side would be credible and implemented. Trump had previously said that he wouldn't lower the tariffs against China to hold substantive talks. But he showed signs of softening during an Oval Office appearance on Thursday, when he said he "could" lower the 145% rate charged on Chinese goods if the weekend talks go well. "We're going to see," Trump said. "Right now, you can't get any higher. It's at 145, so we know it's coming down." Experts say Beijing would demand that any US agreement be credible and actually implemented.

WOMEN ARE NO LONGER JUST MOTHERS PREPARING SONS FOR BATTLE BUT THE FACE OF WAR BRIEFINGS. THEY ARE ASTRONAUTS, CEOS, FRONT-RANKING ATHLETES, STANDUP COMICS TOO.... AHEAD OF MOTHER'S DAY, WOMEN SAY MOTHERHOOD TODAY IS STILL ABOUT A FIERCE LOVE FOR THE FAMILY BUT IT IS ALSO ABOUT NOT BEING LIMITED BY IT. CE FINDS OUT WHAT THEIR NEW AMBITIONS, DESIRES, AND ROLE MODELS ARE

Rear Admiral Nirmala Kannan (retd), former commander of INHS Ashwini, Thiruvananthapuram

THE change [in perspective towards motherhood] happened long ago, but the optics and visibility have certainly improved now. Take the defence forces for example. Women – including mothers – have been playing vital non-medical roles since 1992. To me, two women officers leading the press briefing was nothing unusual for a country that has worked towards encouraging women to realise themselves, and their potential. We have had women as president, prime minister, defence/finance minister, foreign secretary.... Now we have a woman as the director general of the Armed Forces Medical Services. Parents are encouraging women to join defence forces, but vacancies are limited.

Shreya Basak, communications professional, Delhi

MOTHERHOOD is no longer a compulsion but a choice. Mothers are also choosing to not go the sacrificial route like theirs did. Nowadays, young mothers are choosing lives of sexual freedom as a way to cope with stress and pre-existing gendered roles. I have often seen young parents slowly moving to choosing open relationships, while maintaining the peace for their children rather than being hush-hush about it. While it is common for women's bodies to change post pregnancy, that seems not to tie them to the old desires or those dictated by men.

Vanshika Chaudhari, PR professional, Delhi

FROM Sunita Williams to Colonel Sofiya Qureshi & IAF Wing Commander Vyomika Singh, women have shown what they can achieve in public life. Gone are the days when women were confined to household duties and were not allowed to take up leading roles in public affairs. One of the fields that has traditionally been considered men's domain is finance, and today, women are doing wonders in that. I feel it is important for women to understand the world of finance very well, as that holds the key to our real independence.

Aditi Banerjee, filmmaker, Mumbai

WHEN you become a mother, you become so engrossed in this demanding role that you tend to lose yourself as an individual. Especially in our society, mothers are very desexualised – they are supposed to be committed, generous, and kind. [The character of a young mother exploring her sexuality in my web series] came from talking to many young mothers who felt a lack of touch and weren't being seen as sexual beings by their partners after entering motherhood, and it was taboo. In Indian films, there's been a slight shift in how women and mothers are portrayed, as seen in Mrs., Three of Us, and Dabba Cartel recently. But the big shift has been that mothers are now making films, even taking up technical roles, and bringing their kids along to sets.

Amruta Bendre, standup comedian, Bengaluru

RAISING a kid is a tremendous experience and I needed to document it somehow. Standup was a clear place where there is a void when it comes to mothers' voices. I talk about the changes a woman's body goes through when she becomes a mother, the awkward moments with her mother-in-law, her neighbours, her friends... a lot of people find it inappropriate. They say 'Maa hoke aisi baatein! Sharam kaise nahi ati?' (How can you say such things being a mother! How are you not ashamed?), to which the only response is 'Aapko kya lagta hai, main maa kaise bani?' (What do you think, how did I become a mother?).

Charanya Kumar, founder & CEO, Chittam, Chennai

MOTHERHOOD today isn't a full stop, it's a comma. Unlike earlier generations, we don't have to choose between ambition and parenting. I run a company, raise my kids, and pursue personal passions – all without apology. Today's mothers are astronauts, CEOs, creators, redefining what's possible. We're seeing stories that reflect our truth – mothers with desires, with dreams, with depth. Gender roles are more fluid, and support systems are evolving. This shift isn't just cultural – it's personal. It says I can love my child fiercely and still chase bold goals. Motherhood hasn't limited me. It has made me sharper, more resilient, and deeply aware of what truly matters.

Dr Gandham Neelima, MD, anaesthesia & co-founder, ANVI, Hyderabad

MODERN motherhood is a force of creation – biological, intellectual, artistic, and entrepreneurial. As women lead missions into space, code intelligent machines, design storytelling universes, and redefine fashion, we're witnessing a cultural movement led by mothers no longer boxed into a single role. Media is finally catching up to what real women have always known: we are not just nurturers, we are leaders, scientists, and dreamers. I relate to these because I live them daily.

Ahead of Mother's Day tomorrow, take a look at these mother-daughter teams excelling in music and fashion

MoMsoME DUOS

ANJALI RAM

MUSIC as an art form is known for its universality. If fuelled by passion, its power transcends barriers like race, gender, space and time. Mother and daughter duo, Paromita Ghosh and Roshni Ghosh, exemplify this musical bond, which has taken them to a national stage. Recently, the pair – going by Mom & Me Live – participated in the popular reality show Wah Ustad streaming on DD National, representing Bengaluru and wowing the audience through their melodies.

On their performance in the show, the duo notes how their presence as a pair, having auditioned individually, was a delightful surprise. "The showrunners learnt about us being mother and daughter; they wanted to add a surprise element by calling Roshni on stage. The judges were quite surprised; they asked us about our daily routine and to show a glimpse of our performance. That's how we prepared and presented in front of them," shares Paromita.

Though music was always a significant part of their lives, their journey as a duo began during the pandemic, when they started practising together at home to pass time. "We had no proper background. We just sat and tried to shoot some small videos for content. But once the pandemic was over, we thought of giving it a shot and creating a band," recounts Paromita. Interestingly, the two-member band is polyglotic. "We sing in Kannada, Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam, Gujarati, Marathi, Punjabi, and Bengali – despite not being well-versed with the languages when it comes to speaking. But it was a great way to connect with a diverse audience," says Roshni.

What sets them apart is not just their shared passion but their relationship that supports their artistic pursuit. "We know our strengths and weaknesses which makes work much easier and creates a better ambience and projection on stage," says Roshni. Paromita adds, "When we sing individually, we sing for ourselves; when together, we support each other."

Recounting their journey so far, the duo credits it to their family, particularly Roshni's father, Raja, who plays percussion. As Paromita aptly says, "Roshni's dad is both of our backbone. He is the manager, the director, the costume designer, also the major critic on our musical journeys," she concludes.

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

MANY of us, growing up, would have watched our mother dressing up and admired her style, hoping to someday be like her. We may have even tried on her jewellery, messed up her makeup or gotten hopelessly tangled in her sarees. But fashion designer Seema Malhotra didn't just admire her mom – Jamila Malhotra shining in Bengaluru's elite social circles with her intricate hand embroidered outfits – but also learnt her skills, creating the luxury bridal fashion brand, Shimmer, in UB City, alongside her. "I think I developed that flair from her because she was always a trendsetter," says Seema, as Jamila adds, "I used to do all my own designing and embroidery. Slowly, Seema also got interested... It was beautiful because, my mother too, was a great seamstress," adds Jamila.

Actor Judi Dench in Elizabeth (1998)

What started off as making clothes for friends and family, evolved into more as the pair began to dress Bollywood celebrities like Manisha Koirala, Raveena Tandon, Farah Khan, and more while working alongside foreign designers to create costumes for actors in Hollywood films like Cate Blanchett in Elizabeth (1998), Finding Neverland (2004), and Judi Dench in Shakespeare in Love (1998) which went on to win an Oscar for costume design. "We worked on the embroidery for Judi Dench's peacock gown which got a lot of attention. A lot of research went into it – we looked up stitches and embroidery styles that were done hundreds of years ago. It's very different from working in Bollywood, where things are churned out a day before the shoot," recalls Seema.

After decades of working together, and knowing how most people cannot see eye to eye with their parents, one wonders if Jamila and Seema ever have disagreements. Jamila confesses, "There were a few disagreements on certain ideas but then, together, we used to come to one decision, and stick to that," adding, "But we were a great team, because if you gave me one material to design and Seema, another, we would come up with similar looks. We were very much in tune with each other that way."

In the years, since Jamila has stepped back from the business, Seema has continued to cater to the brand's high profile clientele in the likes of Kannada actor Ramya to late actor Puneeth Rajkumar's wife, Ashwini Rajkumar, and several other actors, industrialists, and businnesswomen. While her new collections have derived inspiration from Morrocan aesthetics to Kaleidoscopes, Seema finds that the duo's initial Rajputana and Mughal influences endure. "When you are inspired by something as a kid, it catches your imagination and stays as your base. You grow with the times and current trends but if you ask me about my first love, I think that was with my mom – Mughal and Rajput art and architecture."

- Take a big breath, lengthen your spine, and reach up through your fingertips. Exhale, bend to the right.
- Extend the left side of the torso. Keep your arms straight. Focus on lengthening the side of your body that is stretching. Allow your head to follow the line of your spine, looking forward.
- Stay here for about six breaths. Feel the stretch expand with each breath. Inhale, lengthen your spine, creating more space in your side body. Exhale, deepen the stretch.

STAGING A SMALL TOWN

RENOWNED THESPIAN SANDEEP SHIKHAR'S LATEST PLAY DEALS WITH IDENTITY AMIDST THE QUIRKS OF A SMALL TOWN, AS IT ASPIRES TO RESONATE WITH THE AUDIENCE

ANJALI RAM

A rehearsal of Deluxe Haircutting Salon, captured

SANDEEP Shikhar is a familiar name to most involved or interested in theatre. With a career spanning across three decades as actor, playwright, and director – acting across various films and web series like Panchayat, Jaadugar, Home Shanti and Azaad – Shikhar is also the cofounder of city-based theatre group Indian Ensemble. His latest contribution is directorial, with his play Deluxe Haircutting Salon.

Shikhar's inspiration for the play stems from his own experiences, drawing parallels between Bachchan, the protagonist and owner of the titular salon, and the life he has lived. As Bachchan dreams of becoming a lawyer, Shikhar brings along characters from his neighbourhood to court, unveiling their stories for justice. "The characters and their backstories have been inspired by people I know, having grown up on a street named Gyan Mukherjee Road in Dhanbad, surrounded by the lawyers' colony – my entire childhood there left a huge impression on me," Shikhar reveals.

The themes the play deals with are identity, aspiration, and the clash between modernity and tradition. Through the play, Shikhar dives into the complexities of human relationships in a small-town setting, as the protagonist navigates through the daily phenomena of a mundane life and often finds himself in a world different from reality. "The play examines a very basic premise of a fundamentally aspirational society, which at the moment is in a race to become better, stronger and wealthier. I am also trying to explore the possibilities of empowering the common man and the price that others would pay if the pardon is not granted," he notes.

Shikhar's approach to the craft has always been rooted in collaboration; as he states, "I don't believe in being a dictator, I work with the team and encourage them to come up with their own interpretations of the character." Having worked with different media like films, theatre and series, Shikhar picks theatre as his favourite. "Being a theatre actor helps to get into a character, but the skill of portraying the character in films requires different skillsets from theatre. After working in a few films and web series, and spending so much time on sets, I think I have adapted to the cinematic medium quite a bit, but I am still working on myself to get the best out of myself," he stresses. Shikhar also notes how, for him, the process of writing is different for each medium. "Writing is lonely work. Acting, a group work. When I write a play, I can see my characters on stage. In theatre, we get time to rehearse, to know about the story, the characters. In films, it is the opposite," Shikhar explains, further adding, "Theatre acting is like cooking traditional biryani. Film acting is like fast food. One has to be efficient in both."

Ahead of his play, which he deems to be a promising exploration of human condition, Shikhar hopes the audience to leave reflecting on their own lives and relationships. As he aptly puts it, "The quirks and concerns of the play's small town characters will resonate with the audience completely."

(The play will be staged today and tomorrow, 3.30pm and 7.30pm, at Jagriti Theatre, Whitefield. Tickets are at ₹400)

An incisive tale of rebellion against silencing powers

A SHARADHAA

DASKATH
Director: Aneesh Poojary Venur
Cast: Yuva Shetty,Naveen Bondel, Deekshith K Andinje, Mohan Sheni, Bhavya Poojary, Chandrahas Ullal, Yogish Shetty, Neeraj Kunjarpa, and Mithun Raj

RATING 3/5

WE have already seen the exploration of culture and rebellion in the Karavalli region through films like Ulidavaru Kandante, Kantara, or Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana. Joining this list is Aneesh Poojary Venur's Daskath, which doesn't try to break new ground, but doesn't shy away from exploring the themes further.

Incidentally, the makers of Daskath, which already made waves during its release in Tulu, have released the film in Kannada in the hopes of reaching a wider audience. This village drama doesn't center on a single villain, but instead, it explores how abuse of power becomes ingrained in daily life, offering a story of resilience, hope, and the quiet strength required to resist oppression.

Gnapaala (Yuva Shetty) isn't a caricatured villain but a chillingly familiar figure. Dressed in a stiff white shirt, mouth stained red from betel nut, and perpetually simmering with rage, he mirrors the kind of oppressive authority found in villages across Karnataka. He doesn't need an elaborate reason to turn violent; if a bird dirties his bike or a dog barks at the wrong moment, it's enough. He doesn't speak of justice or ideals—he only craves control, demanding silence from everyone around him.

Standing against him are four young men: Shekhara (Deekshith), who burns with passion but lacks patience, Keshava (Mohan), torn between duty and frustration, Baadu, whose love for Gunapaala's daughter Baagi (Bhavya Poojary) clouds his judgment, and Deepu, the voice of reason. They aren't revolutionaries. They're just young people reacting to the injustice around them.

Their rebellion centers on a single thing: a signature—"daskath." But in this world, a signature isn't just ink on paper. It represents approval, identity, and permission—things that corrupt systems routinely withhold from the powerless.

Unlike Kantara, which weaved folklore and mysticism into its narrative, Daskath stays grounded in harsh realism. There's no divine intervention here. What you see is life as it is: rough, unfair, and uncertain.

Cultural elements like Daiva worship and Hulivesha appear, but only in the background—as subtle reminders of a heritage slowly being eroded by politics and greed.

What sets Daskath apart is its refusal to offer a neatly wrapped ending. You wait for justice or revenge—but what you get instead is compromise, disappointment, and ambiguity. The villain may remain untouched. The system may persist. This isn't lazy writing; it's a deliberate reflection of how things unfold in real life. Not every story ends with a resolution.

Aneesh Poojary displays maturity as a filmmaker. He doesn't force emotion or preach. He allows the story and characters to breathe, trusting the audience to engage with the narrative without heavy-handed tricks.

The casting is another strength. Each actor feels like a natural fit for the fictional village of Kepula Palke. No one feels out of place. The supporting cast, in particular, brings authenticity, making the village feel lived-in and real. The music, rich in local sounds and layered percussion, elevates scenes that might otherwise feel slow.

Still, Daskath isn't without flaws. It tries to address multiple social issues—caste, land ownership, cultural erasure—which makes certain threads feel rushed or underdeveloped. Some characters don't fully evolve, and the pacing dips in the middle. But maybe that's part of the message: in villages, not every story is tied up neatly. Problems linger. Endings are messy.

Daskath doesn't aim to be the next Kantara or a grand rural epic. It's quieter, but braver. It rejects spectacle and tidy conclusions. It challenges the romanticised image of rural life. And in doing so, it just might be the most honest and daring story to come out of the region in recent years.

'COUNTRY FIRST, CINEMA NEXT'

A still from the film

...says K. Ram Narayan, director of Kuladalli Keelyavudo, confirmed that a song originally sung by Sonu Nigam has been replaced by a new version, sung by Chetan Sosca

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Ram Narayan's Kuladalli Keelyavudo is scheduled to release on May 23, and the spotlight is on the team, which includes renowned playback singer Sonu Nigam.

Produced by Santosh Kumar and Vidya under Yogaraj Cinemas and Pearl Cinemas, the film originally featured a song by Sonu Nigam. Composed by Mano Murthy with lyrics by Yogaraj Bhat, the song was warmly received when it was released a few weeks ago. However, it has now been officially removed from the film following a recent controversy surrounding the singer and his statements made at a Bengaluru concert.

In an interaction with CE, director Ram Narayan explained the decision to replace Sonu Nigam's version with a new recording by Kannada singer Chetan Sosca. "I wasn't convinced with his apology. What Sonu Nigam did was a mistake and it has hurt the sentiments of Kannadigas, which deserves a response and punishment," says the director, who also revealed that the Chetan Sosca version would be shared with the trailer.

Adding his insights into this decision, producer Santosh says, "We respect Sonu Nigam as an artist, but his comments about the Kannada language were hurtful. His apology seemed more like damage control than genuine regret." Both Mano Murthy and Yogaraj have expressed their solidarity with the makers' decision.

Kuladalli Keelyavudo, written by Yogaraj Bhat and Islauddin, stars Madenur Manu, Mauna Guddemane, and Sharath Lohitashwa, among others. Even as the film approaches its release, the makers are keeping an eye on the ongoing tensions between India and Pakistan. "Country first, cinema next. I understand we've worked really hard on this film, but we still have 15 days until release. We're hoping that by then, things will settle. We're staying alert and ready to work around the situation," signs of Ram Narayan.

A slow-burn thriller
that takes its time to find its strength

SUTHRADAARI
Director: Kiran Kumar
Cast: Chandan Shetty, Apurva, Tabla Nani, and Navarasan

A SHARADHAA

RATING 3/5

SUTHRADAARI, which translates to "The Puppeteer," is a clever and meaningful choice for a film that explores themes like control, manipulation, and the blurry space between right and wrong. Debut director Kiran Kumar sets the mood immediately with a suicide that kicks off the story. But what seems like a single incident quickly turns into a larger, unsettling mystery.

While Suthradaari might initially seem like a psychological thriller, it becomes clear that it's more than just a mystery. It's about hidden motives, personal battles, and themes of morality. The plot centres on a strange series of kidnappings. The victims, all high-profile individuals, return alive—but later die by suicide. Who's behind this? And why?

Leading the investigation is Vijay (Chandan Shetty), a suspended police officer with a history of disciplinary issues. He's brash, rebellious, and seems careless at first. But beneath that surface is a man deeply affected by his late father's legacy—a respected officer whom Vijay believes was part of a flawed system. That disappointment fuels his decisions, shapes his sense of justice, and even leads to his suspension. When the pattern of suicides becomes too disturbing to ignore, the department pulls Vijay back into the force, setting him on a path that tests everything he believes in.

Vijay's partner, Kalidasa (Tabla Nani), is the opposite—quiet, dependable, and grounded. Their dynamic is subtle but strong, built on mutual respect rather than dramatic clashes. Then comes Adhvika (Apoorva), who starts as a romantic interest but soon proves to be key to both the plot and Vijay's emotional journey.

The film takes its time to get going. The first half has some predictable moments and plays to the gallery with lighter scenes. But the second half is where the real story kicks in. As the mystery deepens, so does the emotional weight. The shift might be too slow for some, but others will appreciate the layered storytelling that follows.

Kiran Kumar tries to balance suspense, emotion, and social commentary. The film weaves in family drama and betrayal without overdoing it. The emotional moments feel earned and help ground the more dramatic parts of the plot.

Chandan Shetty, in his first full-fledged acting role, is still finding his feet. Known for his music, he brings a certain rawness to Vijay that works well for the character. He may not be flawless as an actor yet, but he carries the emotional arc with honesty. What he lacks in finesse, he makes up for with commitment—and his music is a big plus. The background score adds a layer of tension throughout, and his rap numbers in the first half bring energy and youth appeal, even if they slightly break the tone.

Tabla Nani is a pleasant surprise. Known for his comedic roles, he dials it down here and delivers a mature, understated performance. Apoorva adds more than just a romantic angle—her role is central to the plot and gives the film its emotional core. The onscreen chemistry between her and Chandan is quiet but believable. Navarasan, who also produced the film, appears briefly but leaves a mark.

Visually, the film is well-crafted. PKH Doss's cinematography uses light and shadow to mirror the film's mood. The second half's editing is sharp, helping to pick up the pace as the story intensifies.

Suthradaari tries to juggle suspense, social messaging, and emotional drama in one go. While it may stumble in the first half, it regains its footing with a strong second act. Whether that's enough to call it a success depends on what kind of viewer you are. If you're in for a slow-burn thriller that eventually delivers, this might hit the mark. But if you're expecting a high-octane ride from the start, you may be left wanting more.

Yadu marks his debut with Kuntebille

CE FEATURES

YADU, a youngster hailing from the quiet outskirts of Mysuru, harboured dreams of becoming a cricketer. But life had other plans, courtesy his father's unfulfilled ambition.

"I wanted to be a cricketer, but my father always dreamed of becoming an actor. He couldn't pursue it, so he passed that dream on to me. I'm stepping into this world to fulfill his wish, and I'm starting that journey with Kuntebille," says Yadu.

But Yadu's path to the silver screen wasn't easy. He honed his craft at Navarasa Natana Academy and Mysuru Kala Mandira, knocking on doors across production houses before finally landing his first break. That opportunity came through director Siddegowda GBS, who cast him in Kuntebille.

Describing the film, Yadu says, "It's a romantic tale wrapped in suspense. It mirrors the traditional game of kuntebille (hopscotch), where every move matters."

Set for a June release, the film is produced by Shivu SB and Kumar Gowda G under the Jeevita Creations, Mysuru banner. It marks the return of actress Meghashree as the female lead and boasts a strong supporting cast, including Suchendra Prasad, Shankar Ashwath, Sudha Belawadi, Bhavani Prakash, Bala Rajwadi, Kavya, LIC Ramesh, Siddegowda, Shivu Balaji, and Shivaji.

With story, screenplay, and lyrics by Siddegowda GBS, dialogues penned by BA Madhu, visuals captured by cinematographer Munjane Manju, and music composed by Hari Kavya, the film is now in post-production.

"I see this film as the beginning of something meaningful—not just for me, but hopefully for the audience too," Yadu concludes.

THIS BHUMI PEDNEKAR-ISHAAN KHATTER SHOW IS A REGAL MESS

SHREYAS PANDE

THE ROYALS SERIES
Directed by: Priyanka Ghose and Nupur Asthana
Created by: Rangita and Ishita Pritish Nandy
Starring: Bhumi Pednekar, Ishaan Khatter, Sakshi Tanwar, Zeenat Aman, Nora Fatehi

RATING 1.5/5

HOW does one even begin writing about The Royals, the new Netflix show that wants to be chic and soapy but doesn't have the style or drama of one? Ishaan Khatter and Bhumi Pednekar's crown-meets-corporate rom-com isn't nearly as self-aware, convictive and bite-worthy as classic TV. It has everything going on but nothing that stays on. Watching it is like standing on an endless escalator in a shiny mall of possibilities. There is manufactured 'beauty' on all sides; you hear words like 'Hukum', 'Rajkumar' and 'Maharaj' all along and each floor (ahem, episode) brings more of the same with flimsy design, making it audio-visual fatigue.

The show has classic aspirational storytelling. The royal family of Morpur is left in splits after the late Yuvanath Singh (Milind Soman) writes away most of their fortune to his secret lover, Maurice. His eldest son, Aviraaj (Ishaan) is into modelling in the USA and is summoned to his royal fortress by his mother, Padmaja (Sakshi Tanwar). The family has to decide the fate of their dilapidated mahals but is too privileged to move a muscle. Breaking from their entitled sluggishness, they finally decide to do business with a hospitality company that wants to use their space to give commoners an experience of royalty. Bhumi's Sophia leads the company facing the ire of her icky investors, who accuse her of being too impulsive. She is determined to launch her brand in collaboration with the reluctant but needy royals.

The show does everything atypical to this genre. It features a complicated romance between Aviraaj and Sophia that squarely depends on being transactional. Every episode begins with them getting to know each other more and developing admiration but ends in a fight. They have a basic arc of a usual love-story-gone-wrong with a fizzling chemistry. Then there's Aviraaj's sister, whose unidimensional character is solely fixated on its sexual orientation confusion. Through the third sibling, Digvijay (Vihaan Samat), the show also fancies turning into a Masterchef lite as he participates in a show called Gastronautics. It couldn't even be considered a spoof given how diligently it plays over. In a scene, while tasting a dish made by Digvijay, the plate dramatically falls from the hands of one of the judges. He eyes Digvijay sternly. "That was disgusting," he delivers, but that's not it as he goes on to add, "Disgustingly good!". Unlike Digvijay's dish though, the show doesn't allow for such a graceful U-turn.

It isn't difficult to ascertain that the makers are going for that trashy-comedy tone but it will head nowhere without smart writing. Much of its show of emotions feels accidental, not adding much to our understanding of the characters. As a result, we get eight episodes perennially confused about what to be, how to be and how much to be. Bhumi and Ishaan lead the show individually with flair but lack the charm to create a spark together. It often feels like Ishaan is straight out of a teenage romance and Bhumi is from a classical, mature love story. Their eyes meet, but their worlds remain distant. Sakshi Tanwar is fun and games as the colorful maharani while Zeenat Aman is reduced to a weed-smoking-veteran dropping casual remarks in between.

Each episode here comes with an event that makes the characters don designer outfits. There's a ball party, a grand auction and much more. Not to mention a rugged Ishaan who goes shirtless in almost all the episodes. But there's just nothing to salvage. The Royals will probably not work even as a second-screen content, it will only distract you from your reel-watching loop.
